BRITISH CONCEDE POINT TO EUROPEAN ALLIES

WON'T DECLARE WAR ON TURKS IN NEAR EAST

Cabinet Decides Not to Act Unless Turkey Invades "Neutral Zone."

SOLDIERS RECALLED

French and Italians Threaten to Withdraw Troops From Area.

London, Sept. 19.—The British cabinet today decided not to declare war against Turkey unless the Turkish nationalist army under Mustapha Kemal Pasha invades the "neutral zone" along the Turkish straits — the frontier of Europe and Asia. This was a revision of policy and a concession to Britain's European allies.

It was denied at the premier's office that the cabinet had discussed summoning parliament which is now in recess.

Following a meeting of the cabinet today it was reported that Great Britain had reaffirmed her policy to defend the Turkish straits to prevent Turks from entering Europe even if she had to act alone. Despite the tremendous opposition to war Britain continues military preparations.

British soldiers on leave are being recalled to their units, it was reported today.

According to the Evening News the cabinet is "reconsidering its warlike moves of last week and is taking a more sober attitude."

News that the French and Italians would withdraw their troops from the neutral zone on he sea of Marmora and the Bosphorus, came as a thunderbolt. One of the objects of Lord Curzon's visit to Paris will be to attempt to have France modify the decision to leave a fair sized force of soldiers on duty.

The friction between the allies, it is feared here, will encourage the Turks and may react in favor of the Russians, who have a treaty of alliance with the Angora government.

The decision of Italy to withdraw her troops, leaving only a few warships in the straits, was understood to have resulted from fears that the Turkish nationalists would attack the Italian mandated zone on the Mediterrnean littoral.

The campaign of labor and the press against another war continues in full swing. The laborites will hold a mass meeting tomorrow to draw up resolutions warning the government not to engage in war against Turkey.

The British Mediterranean fleet at the Dardanelles now consists of the following units:

One battle squadron.
One light cruiser squadron.
Two destroyer flotillas.
Two aircraft carriers.

Another destroyer flotilla has arrived at Gibralter. It may have been the arrival of these small craft which led to the rumor that the Atlanti fleet was going into the Mediterranean to reinforce the British Mediterranean fleet.

It is reported (but without confirmation) that a note has been received here from the Angora government promising that Turkish nationalist troops will not try to enter zones occupied by allied forces, but claiming the right to occupy territory hitherto held by the Greeks. This includes Chanak, where British troops are now entrenching. The Turks promised not to attack Constantinople or Thrace—European territory.

An official communique was issued at 10 Downing Street saying that the statement on British policy in the near east as issued Saturday was correct. It had been announced Monday the Saturday statement "did not represent the united view of the cabinet but was the work of two or three ministers." The Saturday statement had declared that Britain was prepared to fight to maintain the neutrality of the Dardanelles, sea of Marmora and the Bosphorus. The announcement is viewed today in a new light, however. That is to say that the British will not declare war and it fighting in the near east breaks out it must result from an attack upon the British by the Turks.

The Downing street statement said that Saturday's announcement "represented the views of the cabinet and was issued in order that the public opinion throughout th empire might not be left in doubt as to the aims and policy of the government on critical questions of imperial policy.

BLUE JACKETS SHOW BRAVERY

London, Sept. 18.—United States blue jackets distinguished themselves for braverwy at Smyrna, controlling with bayonets a mob that was attacking Christians, said a copyrighted Chanak dispatch to the Evening News today.

The same capyrighted dispatch revealed that the Turks are still miles from Chanak, the narrowest section of the Dardanelles.

Fire is still smouldering at Smyrna, according to the Evening News correspondent most of the murders at Smyrna were committed by low class civilians instead of by Turkish soldiers.

TURKISH ARMY STILL MOVING TOWARD EUROPE

It is Not Believed That Kemal Intends to Invade Territory

GET ASSURANCES

Last Greek Detachment In Asia Minor Is Now Captured.

Constantinople, Sept. 19.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha's Turkish nationalist army was still moving northward today in the direction of European territory, according to advices received here from the fighting zone.

It is not believed, however, that Kemal intends to attack the British nor try to invade Europe. Large numbers of Turkish troops have been detached and sent eastward in the direction of the Kingdom of Irak (Mesopotamia.)

Greek reinforcements are reported on their way to Thrace. It is believed that Great Britain wishes Greece to maintain a large army in Thrace so that the burden of another war on the frontiers of Europe and Asia would not fall on the allies, who are now divided among themselves.

It is understood that France has received assurances from Mustapha Kemal Pasha that he will not attempt to cross Europe nor even try to seize constantinople.

The last Greek detachment in Asia Minor, 4,000 men in number has been captured by the Turks.

Greek troops that were holding Panderma have evacuated the place. The city—on the south shore of the sea of Marmora—is reported in flames.

Athens, Sept. 19.—The Greek government is calling up the 1908 and 1909 classes of military reservists to reinforce the gendarmerie, it was learned today.

Greek avacuation of Asia Minor has been completed.

Ninety thousand Christian refugees now have been landed here and all are in appalling condition, lacking food, shelter and clothing.

FRANCE WILL NOT HELP ENGLAND

Paris, Sept. 19.—The French cabinet today approved Premier Poincare's decision not to go to war in the near east nor to support Great Britain if that nation declares war on Turkey. The cabinet confirmed Poincare's instructions to French representatives in allied capitals that France's policy is one of peace in the near east.

NAME CLEVELANDER TO COAL POSITION

Columbus, Sept. 19.—Governor Davis today announced that he has asked Clarence J. Neal Cleveland, to serve as state fuel administrator. The position is provided for in the "fair price coal emergency act" passed a few days ago at the special session of the Ohio legslature.

The salary is at the rate of $6,5.0 a year.

Mr. Neal today accepted the appointment which becomes effective immediately. Gov. Davis conferred at once with Mr. Neal to determine upon a temporary "fair prices" for coal which shall be in effect at least until October 1, next.

Mr. Neal is president of the Neal Fireproof Storage company, is a prominent banker and served as finance director at Cleveland when Gov. Davis was mayor. During the governor's regime as mayor of Cleveland, Mr. Neal had charge of the municipal coal yard there.

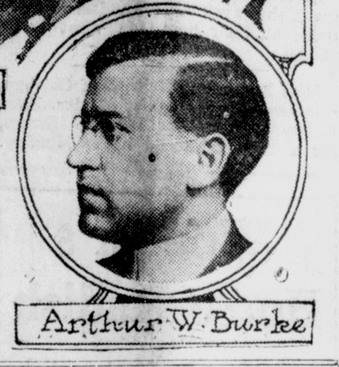
SIXTEEN KILLED IN IRELAND WARFARE

Belfast, Sept. 19.—Ten Irregulars and six Free State troops were killed in battle near Erris, County Mayo, early today. The fight raged for hours in the hills with the combatants fighting from behind rocks and trees Indian fashion.

Irregulars raided Boyle, killing three free staters. One irregular was killed.

Irregulars have captured Balla and Rath Keale. The courthouse at the latter place was set on fire. One member of the free state garrison was killed.

WEDS, AND IT MAY COST HIM $50,000



Arthur W. Burke, wealthy insurance man, of Boston, is now being sued for $50,000 by Miss Francis C. Downing, of Brookline, for alleged alienation of affections, Burke secretly married Mrs. Charles May, a widow. Miss Downing declares she was courted in whirlwind fashion and that Burke was a wonderful lover until the charming widow appeared.

Bodies of 47 Miners Are Brought To The Surface

Golden Crypt of Argonaut Yields It's Dead After Three Weeks—Entombed Men Died Few Hours After Imprisonment.

Jackson, Cal., Sept. 19.—The golden crypt of the Argonaut gave up its dead today in the same silent manner that the lives of forty-seven miners were snuffed out three weeks ago.

The work of bringing up the bodies of the forty-seven miners found dead last night behind hastily constructed bulk heads began early today.

All persons were ordered off the Kennedy mine through which the Argonaut disgorged from its gold lined depths the remains of its victims.

Coffins were taken below in which to bring up the bodies. All the dead were found behind two bulkheads which the entombed men had constructed in a vain effort to save themselves. The bodies were decomposed so as to make identification difficult.

None of the 47 men had remained alive after the first few hours of the fire which broke out in the Argonaut shaft at midnight on August 27. They were driven from passage to passage by the deadly fumes of gas and finally made a last stand on the 4,350 foot level of the Argonaut behind two makeshift bulkheads. And there, one by one, they gasped their last breath and died for lack of air.

Today the mining town of Jackson mourned its dead. In the relaxation of the grief that followed the twenty two days of struggle to break into the Argonaut from the Kennedy mine, the knowledge that the effort was vain, that all of the men were already dead hours before the first shovelful of earth was removed in the drift—has come with an irony too bitter to be borne.

The men were alive but dying at 3 o'clock on the morning of August 28. By 4 o'clock they were in the embrace of death, huddled bodies lying still.

This fact was established by two notes, one from William Fessell, miner and chemist, and father of a family, who perished, and the other from an unknown hand.

Fessel's note was burned deep into the wood on the innermost of the two bulkheads which the men frantically had constructed to keep out the gas. He used the flame of his tiny miners carbide lamp and had seared the wood with the message:

"Three a. m. Gas very bad. We are going to leave you. William Fessel."

A second note, a penciled scrawl, was picked up on the wet floor of the drift. It read:

"Three o'clock. Too much gas."

Below was a rudely scrawled figure "4". It appeared as if the writer had endeavored to write a message at 4 o'clock but the gas had already overpowered the men and they were falling into a sleep which was to be their last.

Gas conditions were reported to have delayed the work of sacking the bodies and the possibility existed that all might not be brought to the surface until tonight. It was reported some officials favored holding all of the bodies under ground until they could be brought up tonight.

Definite burial plans have not been announced although it is understood that interment will be handled by the mining company under the jurisdiction of the state health commissioners.

The possibility of both state and federal investigation of the disaster loomed today with th receipt by B. O. Pickard, had of the U. S. bureau of mines rescue crew, of a telegram from Dr. H. Fostern Bain, director of the U. S. bureau of mines, in which he declared the safety codes prescribed by the laws of many states are inadequate. Clarence Jarvis representing Gov. Stephens already announced there would be a thorough state probe.

San Francisco, Cal., ept. 19—A report to the state industrial commission from one of their representatives in Jackson today indicated that possibly not all of the 47 miners entombed in the Argonaut mine have been accounted for.

The report, according to the commission said that only 42 or 43 had actually been found instead of the entire 47 as officially announced at the mine.

PUSH IMPEACHMENT AGAINST DAUGHERTY

Washington. Sept. 19.—Extensive plans for pushing impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty before the house judiciary committee are being laid by his opponents, it developed.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Rep Keller, Minnesota who brought the impeachment charges in the house is to push the complaint of the attorney general's failure to enforce the anti-trust laws.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor is to press the charges involved in the application of the Attorney General for an injunction against the railroad workers.

These charges involved violation of the constitution in attempt to suppress freedom of speech and the press and peaceful assembly.

Interests back of Reps. Woodruff and Johnson, who attacked the attorney general for failure to prosecute war grafters and profiteers, are preparing to aid in the impeachment proceedings with the evidence they have secured.

FIRE CLAIMS TWO BABIES AS VICTIMS

Cleveland, Sept. 19.—"A real fire" in a play stove had claimed two baby victims today. Jannie Laureny, 4 and Rosa Ryba, 30 months, are dead at their homes here today as the result of their desire to have a real fire in the little stove with which they were playing yesterday in a vacant lot. The flames leaped from the tin plaything and soon both tots were ablaze. They were horribly burned before the fire was extinguished and the younger died on her way to the hospital while the older died soon after reaching there.

SEEK PERMISSION TO SELL.

Columbus, Sept. 19.—Application has been filed with the tate UtilitiesS Commission by the Northern Ohio Traction and Light Company, for permission to sell, at par, $1,000 in 7 per cent preferred stock and at 90, $1,000,000 in 6 per cent general refunding mortgage bonds, to reimburse the company's treasury for funds expended for improvements and to provide funds for contemplated expenditures.

HARDING VETOES SOLDIERS' BONUS BILL ON TUESDAY

President Frames "Vigorous Document" Outlining Position.

MESSAGE COMPLETE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—President Hardin gthis afternoon vetoed the soldier bonus bill in a message to Congress in which he outlined his reasons for so doing and called attention to his position on the question for some time.

Washington, Sept. 19,.—Although the White House maintained strict silence today as to President Harding's action on the soldier bonus bill, the expectation prevailed in congressional quarters that a veto message would be forth coming before nightfall.

The president's message is understood to be virtually completed. It is described by those who have had a hand in its framing as being a "vigorous document," reviewing the history of the bonus and calling particular attention to he fact that in rejecting the measure the chief executive is only carrying out the policy he outlined months ago of refusing to accept any legislation that did not carry with it the means of providing the money to meet the cost of the bonus.

A careful poll of the existing situation in house and senate by the International News Service indicated today that the house will override the veto and repass the bill, but that the senate will sustain the veto—thus effectually killin gthe measure so far as the 67th congress is concerned.

With a full senate of 96 members present and voting, the presidential veto might be overridden but there are approximtly two dozen senators absent from Washington and that they are nearly all members pledged to the bonus. The anti-bonus forces are nearly intact.

By a peculiar twist of circumstances it probably will be Democratic votes that will enable President Harding's veto to stand in the senate. There are eight Democats against the bill and of this number seven are present in Washington and are considered as certain to uphold the veto, thus prividing the necessary margain. These Democrats are Dial, of North Caolina; Glass of Viginia; Swanson, of Virginia; Shields of Tennessee; Underwood of Alabama; Myers of Montana and Owen of Oklahoma.

There will be, at least thirty anti bonus votes present and voting on the floor when the test comes, it appeared today ,as compared with about 48 to 50 pro bonus votes. Senatorial junketing and senatorial campaigning has taken a heavy toll from the probonus ranks.

Four bonus senators are in Europe —Caraway of Arkansas; Harris of Georgia; Ladd of North Dakota and Spencer of Missouri; others are campaigning, Johnson of California, Poindexter of Washington Jones of New Mexico, Kendrick of Wyoming, Reed of Missouri, while a number of others are sick or away on personal business.

ARRESTS EXPECTED IN DOUBLE MURDER; IMPLICATE WOMAN

Believe Man Shot Preacher and Girl After Woman Attacked Them

New Brunswick, N. J. Sept. 19.—The finding of three new witnesses led to the prediction today that one and perhaps two arrests would be made within twenty four hours in the double murder of Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, wealthy rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

The funeral of Mrs. Mills took place today. It was attended largely by women. The ceremonies were carried out in accordance with instructions left by the slain woman when she went into the hospital last winter for what she feared might prove a fatal operation.

Prosecutor Beekman of Somerset County and Chief of Police O'Connell of this city, said they had information in their possession which led them to believe that the mystery would be entirely cleared up "before midnight."

The authorities believe that the slain man and woman, whose bodies were found Saturday morning side by side under an apple tree on a farm two miles from New Brunswick, were shot by a man, but that both had been attacked first by a woman. Scratches on the throats of both victims are believed to have been inflicted by a woman mad with jealousy or hatred.

COX TO MAKE ADDRESS.

Cleveland, Sept., 19.—Unusal interest centers in the appearance before the city club here Saturday of former Gov. James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for president in 1920 Mr. Cox, who recently returned from Europe where he studied present conditions, is expected to reveal his conclusions more fully than he has done heretofore.

SENATE TO PASS TARIFF MEASURE: BILL NEAR END

Will Vote Tuesday Afternoon on Its Final Enactment.

HARDING WILL SIGN

Marks Innovation In Tariff Rates—Farmers Are Protected.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The new Republican tariff bill came to the end of its long legislative journey through congress today with the senate ready to vote at 4 o'clock this afternoon on its final enactment.

Under a unanimous consent agreement, the senate votes at that hour on the measure as revised in conference and its passage is assured. The bill then goes to the White House to become a law by the president's signature.

With its final passage pending, the bill has survived twenty months of bitter partisan attacks in congress and carries into law the highest protective duties since the administration of President Grant. Its pathway after enactment will be beset with additional troubles for leaders of both parties admit it will be tossed into the political maelstrom of the November elections as one of the chief party issues.

When the president signs the bill, it will formally displace the existing emergency tariff act and the permanent Simmons-Underwood law. At the same time, it will supplant the Democratic "protective tariff" policy.

The bill, as it goes to the president marked an innovation in tariff rates for it provides protecton for farmers and agricultural products on the same equality with manufactured articles. The chief attacks on the bill in fact were directed at the agriculture schedule and the chief defeat of its makers was suffered in attempting to place a duty on long staple cotton.

The senate's action in adopting a unanimous consent agreement to vote this afternoon foreclosed any attempts to further amend the bill. Under the rules the bill now must be accepted as it stands and as it finally passed the house or it must be rejected in entirety. By this situation two attempts to replace the tariff on cotton and to increase the dye rates were abandoned. The bill will become a law in the form it passed the house.

The principal rates include $2.20 per hundred pounds on sugar with a preferential rate of $1.76 on Cuban sugar; 31 cents a pound on wool, clean scoured content basis; and 7 cents a pound with 65 per cent ad-valorem (American valuation on dyes.)

The bill also carries precedent-breaking provisions which authorize the president to increase or decrease rates not more than 50 per cent and to change rates from the foreign valuation plan to the American valuation. The president however cannot change dutiable articles to the free list, vice versa, or specific rates to ad valorem rates.

Authority was also given the president to arrange reciprocal agreements with foreign nations by which the tariff rates would be reduced if the other nation made similar concessions to the United States. He can also increase rates against any nation which levies rates prejudiced against American exporters.

The measure will reach the White House more than twenty months after it was first taken up in congress. It was launched in January of last year before the house ways and means committee introduced in the house on January 29, 1921, reported back six months later and passed by the house July 21, 1921.

BEER PROPOSAL TO BE PLACED ON BALLLOTS

State Supreme Court Orders Question On the Forms.

OVERRULE DEMURRER

Judges Comply With Request of Supporters of Proposal

Columbus, Sept. 19.—By a vote of 5 to 2, the state supreme court today ordered Secretary of State Smith to place the beer-light wine proposal on the November election ballot.

Over ruling the demurrer of Attorney General Price who had asked the court to dismiss the case on the ground of insufficient facts, the judges complied with the request of supporters of the proposal for a writ of mandamus ordering the secretary of state to place the proposed amendment on the ballot.

Judges Jones, Wanaker, Clark, Mathias and Robinson are said to have ordered the proposal placed on the ballot. Chief Justice Marshall, it is stated cast the lone dissenting vote, Judge Hough not voting.

Dry officials have announced their intention of appealing immediately to the United States Supreme Court. Wet leaders, however, voiced confidence that the federal court will not interfere with the placing of the proposal on the Ohio ballots this fall.

Claiming that the proposal, which provides for the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer and light wines conflicts with the 18th amendment to the federal constitution, and with the Volstead act. Secretary of State Smith ruled recently that the prposal should no go on the November ballot.

Appealing to the state supreme court, supporters of the proposal argued that Secretary Smith exceeded his powers, that the question of constitutionality of such a proposal should be determined solely by the courts and then only after the proposal has been submitted to Ohio voters at the November election.

RAILROADS MAKE STRIDES TO NORMALCY

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Rapid strides to normal conditions and big increases in carloadings and repairings were reported by the railroads today as a result of the return of strikers in greater numbers under the Baltimore agreements with the shopcrafts officials.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul reported conditions and employment normal and the Chicago and Northwestern disafreements between the men and management have been ironed out and the men are back at work.

Following the announcement by Rock Island to restore pensions and pass privileges to returning employes although the road would not accept the Jewell agreement, a new policy of partial concessions to returning employes is expected to be inaugurated by other roads that refused to be a party of the Jewell agreement.

John Scott, secretary of the shop crafts said today that half a dozen roads whose names he withheld had asked for conferences looking towards a settlement of the strike in accordance with the Baltimore plan.

EX-KAISER WILL MARRY IN FALL

Potsdam, Sept. 19—The marriage of former Emperor William to the widowed Princess Hermine von Schoenaich-Carolath will probably take place in November, it was said, after a family council of the Hohenzollerns held here today.

The meeting was attended by the ex-kaiser's sons with the exception of ex-Crown Prince Frederick William, who is with his father at Doorn. All the son and the ex-crown princess have consented to the marriage, it is stated.

The announcement was made by Friedrich von Berg, chief of the civil cabinet of the House of Hohenzollerns.

Princess Von Schoenaich-Carolath was born Princess Reuss of the elder line.

GERMANY TO AID TURK IF ATTACKED

Washington. Sept. 19.—Both Germany and Russia are pledged to go to the aid of Turkey in case Great Britain or any other major European powers take up arms on behalf of Greece, according to an official statement put out by the Greek legation here today.

The statement alleges that a secret treaty of alliance exists between Turkey, Germany and Russia, which was negotiated after the signing of the now famous Rapallo treaty between Germany and Russia at the time of the Genoa conference.

"Three o'clock. Too much gas."

Below was a rudely scrawled figure "4". It appeared as if the writer had endeavored to write a message at 4 o'clock but the gas had already overpowered the men and they were falling into a sleep which was to be their last.

Gas conditions were reported to have delayed the work of sacking the bodies and the possibility existed that all might not be brought to the surface until tonight. It was reported some officials favored holding all of the bodies under ground until they could be brought up tonight.

Definite burial plans have not been announced although it is understood that interment will be handled by the mining company under the jurisdiction of the state health commissioners.

The possibility of both state and federal investigation of the disaster loomed today with th receipt by B. O. Pickard, had of the U. S. bureau of mines rescue crew, of a telegram from Dr. H. Fostern Bain, director of the U. S. bureau of mines, in which he declared the safety codes prescribed by the laws of many states are inadequate. Clarence Jarvis representing Gov. Stephens already announced there would be a thorough state probe.

San Francisco, Cal., ept. 19—A report to the state industrial commission from one of their representatives in Jackson today indicated that possibly not all of the 47 miners entombed in the Argonaut mine have been accounted for.

The report, according to the commission said that only 42 or 43 had actually been found instead of the entire 47 as officially announced at the mine.

PUSH IMPEACHMENT AGAINST DAUGHERTY

Washington. Sept. 19.—Extensive plans for pushing impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty before the house judiciary committee are being laid by his opponents, it developed.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Rep. Keller, Minnesota who brought the impeachment charges in the house is to push the complaint of the attorney general's failure to enforce the anti-trust laws.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor is to press the charges involved in the application of the Attorney General for an injunction against the railroad workers.

These charges involved violation of the constitution in attempt to suppress freedom of speech and the press and peaceful assembly.

Interests back of Reps. Woodruff and Johnson, who attacked the attorney general for failure to prosecute war grafters and profiteers, are preparing to aid in the impeachment proceedings with the evidence they have secured.

FIRE CLAIMS TWO BABIES AS VICTIMS

Cleveland, Sept. 19.—"A real fire" in a play stove had claimed two baby victims today. Jannie Laureny, 4 and Rosa Ryba, 30 months, are dead at their homes here today as the result of their desire to have a real fire in the little stove with which they were playing yesterday in a vacant lot. The flames leaped from the tin plaything and soon both tots were ablaze. They were horribly burned before the fire was extinguished and the younger died on her way to the hospital while the older died soon after reaching there.

SEEK PERMISSION TO SELL.

Columbus, Sept. 19.—Application has been filed with the tate UtilitiesS Commission by the Northern Ohio Traction and Light Company, for permission to sell, at par. $1,000 in 7 per cent preferred stock and at 90, $1,000,000 in 6 per cent general refunding mortgage bonds, to reimburse the company's treasury for funds expended for improvements and to provide funds for contemplated expenditures.

HARDING VETOES SOLDIERS' BONUS BILL ON TUESDAY

President Frames "Vigorous Document" Outlining Position.

MESSAGE COMPLETE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—President Hardin gthis afternoon vetoed the soldier bonus bill in a message to Congress in which he outlined his reasons for so doing and called attention to his position on the question for some time.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Although the White House maintained strict silence today as to President Harding's action on the soldier bonus bill, the expectation prevailed in congressional quarters that a veto message would be forth coming before nightfall.

The president's message is understood to be virtually completed. It is describd by those who have had a hand in its framing as being a "vigorous document," reviewing the history of the bonus and calling particular attention to he fact that in rejecting the measure the chief executive is only carrying out the policy he outlined months ago of refusing to accept any legislation that did not carry with it the means of providing the money to meet the cost of the bonus.

A careful poll of the existing situation in house and senate by the International News Service indicated today that the house will override the veto and repass the bill, but that the senate will sustain the veto—thus effectually killin gthe measure so far as the 67th congress is concerned.

With a full senate of 96 members present and voting, the presidential veto might be overridden but there are approximtly two dozen senators absent from Washington and that they are nearly all members pledged to the bonus. The anti-bonus forces are nearly intact.

By a peculiar twist of circumstances it probably will be Democratic votes that will enable President Harding's veto to stand in the senate. There are eight Democats against the bill and of this number seven are present in Washington and are considered as certain to uphold the veto, thus prevididng the necessary margain. These Democrats are Dial, of North Caolina; Glass of Viginia; Swanson, of Virginia; Shields of Tennessee; Underwood of Alabama; Myers of Montana and Owen of Oklahoma.

There will be, at least thirty anti bonus votes present and voting on the floor when the test comes, it appeared today, as compared with about 48 to 50 pro bonus votes. Senatorial junketing and senatorial campaigning has taken a heavy toll from the probonus ranks.

Four bonus senators are in Europe —Caraway of Arkansas; Harris of Georgia; Ladd of North Dakota and Spencer of Missouri; others are campaigning, Johnson of California, Poindexter of Washington Jones of New Mexico, Kendrick of Wyoming, Reed of Missouri, while a number of others are sick or away on personal business.

ARRESTS EXPECTED IN DOUBLE MURDER; IMPLICATE WOMAN

New Brunswick, N. J. Sept. 19.—The finding of three new witnesses led to the prediction today that one and perhaps two arrests would be made within twenty four hours in the double murder of Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, wealthy rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

The funeral of Mrs. Mills took place today. It was attended largely by women. The ceremonies were carried out in accordance with instructions left by the slain woman when she went into the hospital last winter for what she feared might prove a fatal operation.

Prosecutor Beekman of Somerset County and Chief of Police O'Connell of this city, said they had information in their possession which led them to believe that the mystery would be entirely cleared up "before midnight."

The authorities believe that the slain man and woman, whose bodies were found Saturday morning side by side under an apple tree on a farm two miles from New Brunswick, were shot by a man, but that both had been attacked first by a woman. Scratches on the throats of both victims are believed to have been inflicted by a woman mad with jealousy or hatred.

COX TO MAKE ADDRESS.

Cleveland, Sept., 19.—Unusal interest centers in the appearance before the city club here Saturday of former Gov. James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for president in 1920. Mr. Cox, who recently returned from Europe where he studied present conditions, is expected to reveal his conclusions more fully than he has done heretofore.

SENATE TO PASS TARIFF MEASURE; BILL NEAR END

Will Vote Tuesday Afternoon on Its Final Enactment.

HARDING WILL SIGN

Marks Innovation In Tariff Rates—Farmers Are Protected.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The new Republican tariff bill came to the end of its long legislative journey through congress today with the senate ready to vote at 4 o'clock this afternoon on its final enactment.

Under a unanimous consent agreement, the senate votes at that hour on the measure as revised in conference, and its passage is assured. The bill then goes to the White House to become a law by the president's signature.

With its final passage pending, the bill has survived twenty months of bitter partisan attacks in congress and carries into law the highest protective duties since the administration of President Grant. Its pathway after enactment will be beset with additional troubles for leaders of both parties admit it will be tossed into the political maelstrom of the November elections as one of the chief party issues.

When the president signs the bill, it will formally displace the existing emergency tariff act and the permanent Simmons-Underwood law. At the same time, it will supplant the Democratic "protective tariff" policy.

The bill, as it goes to the president marked an innovation in tariff rates for it provides protecton for farmers and agricultural products on the same equality with manufactured articles. The chief attacks on the bill in fact were directed at the agriculture schedule and the chief defeat of its makers was suffered in attempting to place a duty on long staple cotton.

The senate's action in adopting a unanimous consent agreement to vote this afternoon foreclosed all attempts to further amend the bill. Under the rules the bill now must be accepted as it stands and as it finally passed the house or it must be rejected in entirety. By this situation two attempts to replace the tariff on cotton and to increase the dye rates were abandoned. The bill will become a law in the form it passed the house.

The principal rates include $2.20 per hundred pounds on sugar with a preferential rate of $1.76 on Cuban sugar; 31 cents a pound on wool, clean scoured content basis; and 7 cents a pound with 65 per cent advalorem (American valuation on dyes.)

The bill also carries precedent-breaking provisions which authorize the president to increase or decrease rates not more than 50 per cent and to change rates from the foreign valuation plan to the American valuation. The president however cannot change dutiable articles to the free list, vice versa, or specific rates to ad valorem rates.

Authority was also given the president to arrange reciprocal agreements with foreign nations by which the tariff rates would be reduced if the other nation made similar concessions to the United States. He can also increase rates against any nation which levies rates prejudiced against American exporters.

The measure will reach the White House more than twenty months after it was first taken up in congress. It was launched in January of last year before the house ways and means committee introduced in the house on January 29, 1921, reported back six months later and passed by the house July 21, 1921.

BEER PROPOSAL TO BE PLACED ON BALLOTS

State Supreme Court Orders Question On the Forms.

OVERRULE DEMURRER

Judges Comply With Request of Supporters of Proposal

Columbus, Sept. 19.—By a vote of 5 to 2, the state supreme court today ordered Secretary of State Smith to place the beer-light wine proposal on the November election ballot.

Over ruling the demurrer of Attorney General Price who had asked the court to dismiss the case on the ground of insufficient facts, the judges complied with the request of supporters of the proposal for a writ of mandamus ordering the secretary of state to place the proposed amendment on the ballot.

Judges Jones, Wanaker, Clark, Mathias and Robinson are said to have ordered the proposal placed on the ballot. Chief Justice Marshall, it is stated cast the lone dissenting vote, Judge Hough not voting.

Dry officials have announced their intention of appealing immediately to the United States Supreme Court. Wet leaders, however, voiced confidence that the federal court will not interfere with the placing of the proposal on the Ohio ballots this fall.

Claiming that the proposal, which provides for the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer and light wines conflicts with the 18th amendment to the federal constitution, and with the Volstead act. Secretary of State Smith ruled recently that the prposal should no go on the November ballot.

Appealing to the state supreme court, supporters of the proposal argued that Secretary Smith exceeded his powers, that the question of constitutionality of such a proposal should be determined solely by the courts and then only after the proposal has been submitted to Ohio voters at the November election.

RAILROADS MAKE STRIDES TO NORMALCY

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Rapid strides to normal conditions and big increases in carloadings and repairings were reported by the railroads today as a result of the return of strikers in greater numbers under the Baltimore agreements with the shopcrafts officials.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul reported conditions and employment normal and the Chicago and Northwestern disafreements between the men and management have been ironed out and the men are back at work.

Following the announcement by Rock Island to restore pensions and pass privileges to returning employes although the road would not accept the Jewell agreement, a new policy of partial concessions to returning employes is expected to be inaugurated by other roads that refused to be a party of the Jewell agreement.

John Scott, secretary of the shop crafts said today that half a dozen roads whose names he withheld had asked for conferences looking towards a settlement of the strike in accordance with the Baltimore plan.

EX-KAISER WILL MARRY IN FALL

Potsdam, Sept. 19—The marriage of former Emperor William to the widowed Princess Hermine von Schoenaich-Carolath will probably take place in November, it was said, after a family council of the Hohenzollerns held here today.

The meeting was attended by the ex-kaiser's sons with the exception of ex-Crown Prince Frederick William, who is with his father at Doorn. All the son and the ex-crown princess have consented to the marriage, it is stated.

The announcement was made by Friedrich von Berg, chief of the civil cabinet of the House of Hohenzollerns.

Princess Von Schoenaich-Carolath was born Princess Reuss of the elder line.

GERMANY TO AID TURK IF ATTACKED

Washington. Sept. 19.—Both Germany and Russia are pledged to go to the aid of Turkey in case Great Britain or any other major European powers take up arms on behalf of Greece, according to an official statement put out by the Greek legation here today.

The statement alleges that a secret treaty of alliance exists between Turkey, Germany and Russia, which was negotiated after the signing of the now famous Rapallo treaty between Germany and Russia at the time of the Genoa conference.

SMITH WILL SEND OUT INFORMATION TO STATE VOTERS

Advance Notices on Proposed Amendments Are Planned.

Columbus, Sept. 19.—Despite the failure of the state emergency board to act upon his request for an appropriation to cover the expense to be incurred in informing Ohio voters relative to proposed amendments to the state constitution. Secretary of State Smih today announced his intention of sending out this information. "It is my duty to send out advance notices and information concerning any proposed amendments that may be listed to appear on the November ballots and I am going to do it," declared Secretary Smith. He said he would nto worry over the question as to where the money to defray this expense will come from.

Estimating the expense at not less than $60,000, Secretary Smith said his department has only $20,000 available for this purpose.

He pointed out that the state constitution decree the secretary of state shall have printed copies of all proposed amendments. together with arguments and explanations of each, and that these shall be mailed to all voters prior to appearance of the proposed amendments on the ballot.

The information to be disseminated by Secretary Smith will relate to the proposed taxation and beer light wine amendments unless the courts order the latter proposal kept off the November ballot.

AMERICAN WOMAN NOT TO TAKE THRONE

Paris, Sept. 19.—The chances of an American woman to ascend the Greek throne are very slender, according to authoritative information here today. Prince Christopher, husband of the former William Leeds widow of the American tin plate magnate, in an interview with the International News Service said:

"I do not want to occoupy the Greek throne, and anyhow I do not believe that my brother King Constintine, will ever abdicate. He did not want war with the Turks. He will stick by his people."

Prince Christopher and his wife, who is known now as the Princess Anastasia, are here for the social season.

ARGUMENTS FOR PROPOSED TAXATION AND DEBT AMENDMENTS ARE FILED

Petitions Bearing On Two Probable Changes In Ohio Laws Are Filed With Secretary of State On Monday.

Columbus, Sept. 19.—Arguments bearing upon the proposed debt limitation and taxation amendments to the state constitution preliminary to their appearance on the November ballots were filed late yesterday with Secretary of State Smith. The debt limitation argument declared that provisions similar to those embodied in the proposal are contained in the Griswold law, but "that experience has shown that there is a tendency for debt limits, when only statutory, to give way before the pressure of rising tax rates.

"As a constitutional provision, it will have greater security," the argument asserts. H. H. Griswold, Geagau County, author of the Griswold law; R. B. Thompson, editor of the Ohio State Grange Monthly; L. T. Palmer, president Ohio Association Real Estate Boards; H. A. Caton, master of the Ohio Grange and Miss Lucia B. Johnson, secretary Ohio Child Welfare Council, prepared the argument.

The argument for the taxation proposal declares that it "provides home rule in taxation" and "stipulates that the people themselves shall determine how high the tax rate shall be." The present law is denounced as placing an unequal part of the taxes on "the home owner, farmer, merchant, manufacturer, public utility and owner of real estate."

Signers of the argument for the proposed taxation amendment are: President W. O. Thompson, of Ohio State University; President Bradfute, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; C. A. Dyer, Secretary Ohio Home Protective League; Mrs. Lulu H. Vanderbark, Assistant Secretary of the Ohio State Grange and John E. McCrehen Legislative Agent for the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards.

MIGHTY BATTLE OF DIPLOMACY GOES ON BEHIND SCENES

Behind the Balkan war scare—now being rapidly dispelled—a mighty battle of international diplomacy is being waged with the destiny of nations at stake.

The central figures in this conflict of diplomats are Great Britain and France. So far the British have been outmaneuvered and France has been successful in drawing into her fold numerous allies. Great Britain, to some extent, has ben isolated in her near east policy and her attitude has been considerably modified since Sunday when it was proclaimed that the whole British empire was preparing for war.

The situation in short is as follows:

Great Britain and France are divided upon many international issues chief of which is allied pressure upon Germany to secure payment of German indemnity. When the Turkish nationalists defeated the Greeks and compelled the withdrawal of the Greek army from Asia Minor France saw her chance. France had been giving moral (and perhaps material) support to the Turkish nationalists all along. France had a treaty with the Turkish nationalists. The British were supporting the Greeks.

Great Britain has vast interests in the near east. In fact the near east is a vital element in Britain's international life. It is held by London to be almost a matter of life and death to British interests in the east that the Turkish straits (as the Dardanelles, sea of Marmora and Bosphorus are known) be neutrlized or else be British. France is less interested on that subject but not so Russia. Despite the change of government in Russia from imperialism to bolshevism the dream of Rusian control of the straits continues.

If Russia comes to dominate the Angora government (and Moscow has a close alliance with the Turks) it might prove tantamount to Russian control of these startegic waterways.

Britain is ready to make war to hold the Turkish straits. She found it necessary to her policy to have the support of her old time allies and perhaps some of the Balkan states.

TWELVE THOUSAND GREEKS KILLED

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 19.— Twelve thousand Greek troops were killed in fighting at Smyrna and an equal number were captured, according to word received here today.

(These Greek soldiers killed and captured do not include the victims of Turkish massacres. It is claimed by Turkish officials, however that the majority of the slaughtered Christians were victims of low class civilians who took advantage of the reign of terror in Smyrna to fire buildings, loot and murder.)

There are 40,000 Turkish troops at Smyrna.

Of the 50,000 Europeans in Smyrna the Americans evacuated 10,000. The Greeks claim that British ships carried only English refugees while American ships carried all indiscriminately.

URGE MEDIATION OF NEAR EAST ISSUE

Washington, Sept. 19.—Mediation by President Harding in the near east conflict was proposed today by Rep. Meyer London socialist, New York in a resolution introduced in the house. The resolution says:

"That the president of the United States be and he is hereby requested to offer to mediate between the powers now contending in the near east and in the Balkans."

RETAIL COST OF FOOD IN AUGUST DROPS 2 PER CENT

Washington, Sept. 19—While the country was in the throes of a railroad and coal strike, the retail cost of food dropped 2 per cent in August as compared with July, the department of labor announced today. The greatest decreases were in vegetables, potatoes, dropping 28 per cent; onions 16 per cent and cabbage 15 per cent. Sirloin steak dropped one per cent.

Eleven articles of food advanced in price during August, sugar topping the lit at 7 per cent.

FINED IN POLICE COURT

Doug Fanning, 55, was arrested by Lieutenant Mangan and Patrolman Jones Monday evening on complaint of Deweyville residents. He was arraigned in Police Court Tuesday morning on a plain drunk charge and was fined $15 and costs by Police Judge Smith.

FIRE LADDIES ARE CALLED FROM BEDS

The meanest man or the meanest woman in Xenia has been discovered by the Xenia Fire Department.

The fire laddies had just piled in the hay for a refreshing night's sleep at 10:15 o'clock Monday night, when an alarm was sent in from Box 51, Cincinnati Avenue and Charles Street.

The firemen discovered after making the run that it was a false alarm. And this—it sounded like a woman who reported the fire to the department.

JAMAICA KID WILL MEET KID NORFOLK OF NEW YORK

Dayton, Sept. 19.—After much dickering, the Miami A. C. of this city has matched Kid Norfolk of New York holder of the Negro light-heavy weight title and Jamaica Kid of Cincinnati, foremost contender for a 12 round decision contest in this city Monday night Sept. 25th.

Boxing fans throughout the country have been waiting for this match as both fighters have been claiming the title and as they are to engage in a decision bout, the winner will be the undisputed champion.

The advance sale of seats has been so large that the Miami A. C. have so lrged that the Miami A. C. has North Dayton Ball Park where they can accomodate 5000 people.

Both boxers will arrive early this week to complete their training at local "gyms."

MOTHER LOVE BEGINS FIGHT TO SAVE SON FROM DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Defense, of Dr. Herbert Bryson, Who is Charged With Murder of Unlawful Mate, Will Plead "Shell-Shock" at Trial.

Courthouse, Huntingdon, Pa., Sept. 19.—Mother love began a fight here today to defeat the electric chair.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bryson, 71, of Washington, sat in the dignified high ceilinged courtroom where Judge Bailey and a jury will weigh the evidence upon which is based a charge of murder against Dr. Herbert Bryson, her son, and fought in the myriad ways that only a mother knows for the life of her boy.

The attorneys for Bryson, the Washington doctor, who is accused of the slaying of Mrs. Helen Irene Haynes, his unlawful mate, at Cassville, August 8, last makes no secret of the fact that they regard Mrs. Bryson as their "trump card."

Announcement that Mrs. Bryson would take the stand in defense of her son, which was made today by William Wallace Chisolm, of counsel for the accused indicates the extent to which defense attorneys are relying upon, "the mother element" in planning thir case.

Ever since he was lodged in jail, following the death of pretty Mrs. Haynes, wife of a Washington chauffeur, who died from bullet wounds and on her death bed accused Dr. Bryson of her murder the accused doctor has maintained the greatest unconcern of his fate. He has not discussed his case with a single person, according to Attorney Chisolm and has shown vastly more interest in the latest polar expedition than he has in the possibility that he may be sent to the electriic chair.

Shell shock will be set up for the first time as a defense in a criminal trial. Several noted alienists will be summoned to testify.

Dr. Bryson is 41 years old and was a former practicing physician of Washington. During the war he served as a medical officer overseas and there sustained the shell shock which is now his defense.

RECIPES FOR A DAY

Cheese Canapes—One cup grated cheese, one teaspoon salt, dash of red pepper, six slices buttered bread. Cut the bread into squares; butter them lightly and brown by placing in the oven. Cover each with a thick layer of the grated cheese to which the seasoning has been added. Bake in oven until the cheese is melted and serve at once.

Consomme—(This recipe makes enough to last several days)—Two pounds lean beef, one small knuckle veal, two tablespoons butter, one small onion, one stalk celery, one carrot, one bay leaf, two quarts water. Cut the beef and veal into small pieces and brown them in the butter over a hot fire. Add the cold water, onion, carrot, celery and bay leaf. Simmer slowly for five or six hours in a covered kettle. Take from gre, cool, remove the fat and strain. Reheat whenever ready to serve.

NOVEL CAKE RECIPES

Cherry -Cream Cake — Three-quarters cup fat, three eggs, three teaspoons baking-powder, one cup sugar, one cup drained canned cherries, one-quarter teaspoon vanilla, one cup milk, three cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon rose extract, one-eighth teaspoon almond extract.

Cream the butter and sugar. Add the baking powder and salt, then the flour and milk alternately, the flour sifted thoroughly. Fold in the beaten whites of the eggs. Drop a spoonful in muffin tin, place three cherries, then another spoonful and put a cherry on top.

Belgian Ginger Cake—Two cups corn flour, one-half cup white sugar, one and one-half tablespoons ginger, one-half cup oleomargarine, one or two eggs.

Work all ingredients together to make a paste. Shape into balls the size of a walnut, flattening them slightly before putting into oven.

SUGGESTIONS

To clean a sponge, rub fresh lemon juice thoroughly into it, then rinse several times in warm water and the sponge will be as sweet as when new.

To keep caramel, chocolate, etc., from running onto the sides of a cake, spread just a little flour over the top before putting on the filling.

When ironing fine white goods sprinkle common salt on the paper you rub your irons on. The salt will cleanse them so that they will not smut or soil the clothes.

Place your measuring cup on the back of the range, or dip it in hot water before using it to measure molasses or table syrup. The syrup pours out easily and the cup is much more easily cleaned.

To keep cheese from molding after it is cut, wet a cloth in vinegar, wring out and smooth same over the cut portion. The following method is good for a small amount: Cut the cheese in small pieces and press them in a glass jar, screwing the top on tight when the jar is full.

Coffee. Milk.

RECIPES FOR A DAY

Cheese Canapes—One cup grated cheese, one teaspoon salt, dash of red pepper, six slices buttered bread. Cut the bread into squares; butter them lightly and brown by placing in the oven. Cover each with a thick layer of the grated cheese to which the seasoning has been added. Bake in oven until the cheese is melted and serve at once.

Consomme—(This recipe makes enough to last several days)—Two pounds lean beef, one small knuckle veal, two tablespoons butter, one small onion, one stalk celery, one carrot, one bay leaf, two quarts water. Cut the beef and veal into small pieces and brown them in the butter over a hot fire. Add the cold water, onion, carrot, celery and bay leaf. Simmer slowly for five or six hours in a covered kettle. Take from gre, cool, remove the fat and strain. Reheat whenever ready to serve.

NOVEL CAKE RECIPES

Cherry -Cream Cake — Three-quarters cup fat, three eggs, three teaspoons baking-powder, one cup sugar, one cup drained canned cherries, one-quarter teaspoon vanilla, one cup milk, three cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon rose extract, one-eighth teaspoon almond extract.

Cream the butter and sugar. Add the baking powder and salt, then the flour and milk alternately, the flour sifted thoroughly. Fold in the beaten whites of the eggs. Drop a spoonful in muffin tin, place three cherries, then another spoonful and put a cherry on top.

Belgian Ginger Cake—Two cups corn flour, one-half cup white sugar, one and one-half tablespoons ginger, one-half cup oleomargarine, one or two eggs.

Work all ingredients together to make a paste. Shape into balls the size of a walnut, flattening them slightly before putting into oven.

SUGGESTIONS

To clean a sponge, rub fresh lemon juice thoroughly into it, then rinse several times in warm water and the sponge will be as sweet as when new.

To keep caramel, chocolate, etc., from running onto the sides of a cake, spread just a little flour over the top before putting on the filling.

When ironing fine white goods sprinkle common salt on the paper you rub your irons on. The salt will cleanse them so that they will not smut or soil the clothes.

Place your measuring cup on the back of the range, or dip it in hot water before using it to measure molasses or table syrup. The syrup pours out easily and the cup is much more easily cleaned.

To keep cheese from molding after it is cut, wet a cloth in vinegar, wring out and smooth same over the cut portion. The following method is good for a small amount: Cut the cheese in small pieces and press them in a glass jar, screwing the top on tight when the jar is full.

ARGUMENTS FOR PROPOSED TAXATION AND DEBT AMENDMENTS ARE FILED

Petitions Bearing On Two Probable Changes In Ohio Laws Are Filed With Secretary of State On Monday.

Columbus, Sept. 19.—Arguments bearing upon the proposed debt limitation and taxation amendments to the state constitution preliminary to their appearance on the November ballots were filed late yesterday with Secretary of State Smith. The debt limitation argument declared that provisions similar to those embodied in the proposal are contained in the Griswold law, but "that experience has shown that there is a tendency for debt limits, when only statutory, to give way before the pressure of rising tax rates.

"As a constitutional provision, it will have greater security," the argument asserts. H. H. Griswold, Geagau County, author of the Griswold law; R. B. Thompson, editor of the Ohio State Grange Monthly; L. T. Palmer, president Ohio Association Real Estate Boards; H. A. Caton, master of the Ohio Grange and Miss Lucia B. Johnson, secretary Ohio Child Welfare Council, prepared the argument.

The argument for the taxation proposal declares that it "provides home rule in taxation" and "stipulates that the people themselves shall determine how high the tax rate shall be." The present law is denounced as placing an unequal part of the taxes on "the home owner, farmer, merchant, manufacturer, public utility and owner of real estate."

Signers of the argument for the proposed taxation amendment are: President W. O. Thompson, of Ohio State University; President Bradfute, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; C. A. Dyer, Secretary Ohio Home Protective League; Mrs. Lulu H. Vanderbark, Assistant Secretary of the Ohio State Grange and John E. McCrehen Legislative Agent for the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards.

MIGHTY BATTLE OF DIPLOMACY GOES ON BEHIND SCENES

Behind the Balkan war scare—now being rapidly dispelled—a mighty battle of international diplomacy is being waged with the destiny of nations at stake.

The central figures in this conflict of diplomats are Great Britain and France. So far the British have been outmaneuvered and France has been successful in drawing into her fold numerous allies. Great Britain, to some extent, has ben isolated in her near east policy and her attitude has been considerably modified since Sunday when it was proclaimed that the whole British empire was preparing for war.

The situation in short is as follows:

Great Britain and France are divided upon many international issues chief of which is allied pressure upon Germany to secure payment of German indemnity. When the Turkish nationalists defeated the Greeks and compelled the withdrawal of the Greek army from Asia Minor France saw her chance. France had been giving moral (and perhaps material) support to the Turkish nationalists all along. France had a treaty with the Turkish nationalists. The British were supporting the Greeks.

Great Britain has vast interests in the near east. In fact the near east is a vital element in Britain's international life. It is held by London to be almost a matter of life and death to British interests in the east that the Turkish straits (as the Dardanelles, sea of Marmora and Bosphorus are known) be neutrlized or else be British. France is less interested on that subject but not so Russia. Despite the change of government in Russia from imperialism to bolshevism the dream of Rusian control of the straits continues.

If Russia comes to dominate the Angora government (and Moscow has a close alliance with the Turks) it might prove tantamount to Russian control of these startegic waterways.

Britain is ready to make war to hold the Turkish straits. She found it necessary to her policy to have the support of her old time allies and perhaps some of the Balkan states.

TWELVE THOUSAND GREEKS KILLED

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 19.— Twelve thousand Greek troops were killed in fighting at Smyrna and an equal number were captured, according to word received here today.

(These Greek soldiers killed and captured do not include the victims of Turkish massacres. It is claimed by Turkish officials, however that the majority of the slaughtered Christians were victims of low class civilians who took advantage of the reign of terror in Smyrna to fire buildings, loot and murder.)

There are 40,000 Turkish troops at Smyrna.

Of the 50,000 Europeans in Smyrna the Americans evacuated 10,000. The Greeks claim that British ships carried only English refugees while American ships carried all indiscriminately.

URGE MEDIATION OF NEAR EAST ISSUE

Washington, Sept. 19.—Mediation by President Harding in the near east conflict was proposed today by Rep. Meyer London socialist. New York in a resolution introduced in the house. The resolution says:

"That the president of the United States be and he is hereby requested to offer to mediate between the powers now contending in the near east and in the Balkans."

RETAIL COST OF FOOD IN AUGUST DROPS 2 PER CENT

Washington, Sept. 19—While the country was in the throes of a railroad and coal strike, the retail cost of food dropped 2 per cent in August as compared with July, the department of labor announced today. The greatest decreases were in vegetables, potatoes, dropping 28 per cent; onions 16 per cent and cabbage 15 per cent. Sirloin steak dropped one per cent.

Eleven articles of food advanced in price during August, sugar topping the lit at 7 per cent.

FIRE LADDIES ARE CALLED FROM BEDS

The meanest man of the meanest woman in Xenia has been discovered by the Xenia Fire Department.

The fire laddies had just piled in the hay for a refreshing night's sleep at 10:15 o'clock Monday night, when an alarm was sent in from Box 51, Cincinnati Avenue and Charles Street.

The firemen discovered after making the run that it was a false alarm. And this—it sounded like a woman who reported the fire to the department.

MOTHER LOVE BEGINS FIGHT TO SAVE SON FROM DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Courthouse, Huntingdon, Pa., Sept. 19.—Mother love began a fight here today to defeat the electric chair.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bryson, 71, of Washington, sat in the dignified high ceilinged courtroom where Judge Bailey and a jury will weigh the evidence upon which is based a charge of murder against Dr. Herbert Bryson, her son, and fought in the myriad ways that only a mother knows for the life of her boy.

The attorneys for Bryson, the Washington doctor, who is accused of the slaying of Mrs. Helen Irene Haynes, his unlawful mate, at Cassville, August 8, last makes no secret of the fact that they regard Mrs. Bryson as their "trump card."

Announcement that Mrs. Bryson would take the stand in defense of her son, which was made today by William Wallace Chisolm, of counsel for the accused indicates the extent to which defense attorneys are relying upon, "the mother element" in planning thir case.

Ever since he was lodged in jail, following the death of pretty Mrs. Haynes, wife of a Washington chauffeur, who died from bullet wounds and on her death bed accused Dr. Bryson of her murder the accused doctor has maintained the greatest unconcern of his fate. He has not discussed his case with a single person, according to Attorney Chisolm and has shown vastly more interest in the latest polar expedition than he has in the possibility that he may be sent to the electric chair.

Shell shock will be set up for the first time as a defense in a criminal trial. Several noted alienists will be summoned to testify.

Dr. Bryson is 41 years old and was a former practicing physician of Washington. During the war he served as a medical officer overseas and there sustained the shell shock which is now his defense.

"THE MOST WONDERFUL WORK BY THE BRAIN AND PURPOSE OF MAN."

Sunday, September 17th, was Constitution Day, the 135th anniversary of the adoption of that great document which established the principles under which this country is governed.

Some hundred years after the Constitution was adopted, the great English statesman, Wm. Gladstone, said of it that it was, so far as he could see, "the most wonderful work struck in a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

These are times of disregard for law and order. There could be no better corrective than for every citizen of the United States to familiarize himself more fully with the Constitution. Those who do so will be freshly impressed by the amazing way in which it has met the needs of a government established under it, but grown to a power and developed along lines which framers of the document could not forsee.

The Constitution is short, even with the amendments. It is terse and clear. It is splendidly impartial which is one reason why it is attacked so frequently by those who long for group power. It is conservative and yet liberal. Familiarity with it will help the citizen and voter to understand better the fresh suggestions for its amendment and whether they will tend to impair or strengthen it as a force for the public good.

Aliens especially should be encouraged to become more familiar with it, though many of our foreign-born know it better today than our native sons. Radicalism should be a less serious menace among the alien population if every man understood the splendid freedom that is his under the Constitution.

MAINE POINTS THE WAY TO REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

The Republican victory in Maine foreshadows plainly the election of a Republican Congress in November. Despite all the effort to undermine the people's confidence in the Harding administration, the voters who put upon Republican leadership the heavy responsibility of bringing order out of governmental chaos, intend to stand by President Harding and his associates until the work is done.

Maine was made a battle ground by national Democratic leadership this year in the belief that a Republican set back wolud have a decided psychological effect upon the whole country with a general election nearing. With a vigorous candidate for governor, a better organization than they have had for some years and in the belief that there was enough dissatisfaction with the party in power to make opposition success possible, the Democrats of Maine have been hoping and even believing that they might carry the state or at least reduce the Republican plurality to negligible proportions.

The Republican national committee, the Republican national senatorial commitee and the Republican national congressional committee, backing the Maine Republican state and local organizations, accepted the challenge and waged a vigorous campaign on national issues. The result is that Maine has given the biggest off year Republican plurality in the history of the state.

HUGHES AT THE CAPITAL OF BRAZIL.

Secretary of State Hughes, speaking to the American residents of Rio de Janeiro, at the dedication of the site for an American centennial monument at the exposition grounds, explained the attitude of the United States toward the South American countries as one in which all imperialistic sentiment was lacking and defined what he described as the basis of Pan-American sentiment. "You, my fellow-countrymen," said Mr. Hughes, "know full well how sincerely we desire the independence, the unimpaired, sovereignty, the political integrity and the constantly increasing prosperity of the people of Latin America. We have our domestic problems incident to the expanding life of a free people; but there is no imperialistic sentiment among us to cast even a shadow across the pathway of our progress. We covet no territory, we seek no conquests; the liberty we cherish for ourselves we desire for others, and we assert no rights for ourselves that we do not accord to others. We sincerely desire to see throughout this hemisphere an abiding peace, a reign of justice and the diffusion of the blessings of beneficent cooperation. It is this desire which forms the basis of Pan-American sentiment."

WHAT FOUR HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS HAVE DONE.

Mrs. Harriet Bridges Clary, writes to The National Republican: "The American people, all races, all religions working harmoniously under the banner of the American Red Cross for the good of humanity, have made an enduring impression upon the different nations of the world. Their great crusade, the greatest of modern times which recently came to an end, spent four hundred million dollars in furnishing the needful supplies to the destitute peoples in the war countries. To the French, to the German, the Austrian, the Serbian, and all races. It will go on record in history that America, unfettered by oppressive treaties, was a brother to all in the World War who needed a brother's helping hand. America has always put her Christianity into deeds. We may well feel proud of the achievements of our country—"so isolated?"

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a girl for about six months and her sister does not want us to go together. I go to see her every night. Do you think her sister will try to separate us if we get married?

VERY TRULY.

Unless you and the girl are of age your marriage would not be legal. Probably the sister realizes that you are too young to marry and that if you did you would not be happy together long. It takes a great deal of money nowadays to go to housekeeping. If you and the girl are old enough to marry, you need not worry about the sister. She can do nothing to separate you if you are not minors.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am married and have been for almost two years. I am only nineteen years old. I have a good position and have been working every day since we were married. I have an office position and am drawing a good salary.

When we were married my husband didn't have anything, but now he has and he says that if I hadn't worked we would have got along all right. I do not believe this, because I have tried to help and save and get something. Then I intended to stop working and I have succeeded in getting my plans fulfilled, but now we have trouble and fusses and he is grouchy and says mean things and doesn't want to take me any place in a crowd for he is so jealous. I can't ask him to go to a show or to visit anyone unless he gets angry before he goes or when he gets home, and I am sure I do not try to make him jealous, but it seems he just can't resist if anyone speaks or talks to me.

We were separated once and have been back together about a month, but it is the same thing over and over and I don't know what to do. I do love him and want to live with him, but I can't go on living my life like this. He says he doesn't care whether he lives with me or not and also that he didn't worry about it when we were separated. If I had known I would never have gone back, even though my heart did ache for him. It is just as bad now as before.

LONELY AND DISCOURAGED.

It would be a mistake, it seems to me, to spend your life with a man who makes you so miserable. Separation would be hard for you at first, but later it would mean contentment and relief from strife.

Perhaps your husband's youth is the cause for the way he acts, and when he is older he will grow more sane and will get over his jealousy and unpleasant dsiposition. If you remain with him, there is little chance that he will change. But if you go away, he will want you back and will work hard to get you. Do not go back until you are confident he has conquered his nature and learned how to be a man.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Some time ago I read in your column of the use of peroxide and ammonia for removing superfluous hair from the arms. Would you please publish it again, giving the proper proportions? E. D.

The preparation to which you refer was not recommended for a depilatory to remove hair immediately. The peroxide lightens the color of the hair so that it is not conspicuous and the combination in time weakens the nourishment of the hair sufficiently to kill it. It is a safe remedy. The proper proportion is six parts of peroxide to one of ammonia.

THE SHERIFF.

No smiles are now adorning my once effulgent phiz; the sheriff came this morning and took away my Liz; he took the choo-choo wagon that I have steered so long; I drink from sorrow's flagon a bitter draught and strong. For years I have cavorted along the Great White Way, while creditors exhorted and begged me for their pay. The butcher and the baker were always on my trail, the sordid undertaker insisted on some kale. In winter and in summer, across the vales and hills, the coal man and the plumber were chasing me with bills. And oftentimes my pastor would read the riot act; "You're headed for disaster," he said, with splendid tact; "you blow your coin for rubber, for tires and gasoline, for patent jack or snubber, and this is base and mean; for all the time you're owing to every merchant's till, and everywhere you're going you're up against a bill. The man," observed the pastor, "who joyrides while in debt, has got a nerve that's vaster than has been charted yet." Ah, sad is my condition, since I am doomed to walk; the sullen-eyed mortician can chase me round a block. The butcher and the grocer, since I have lost my dray, are ever drawing closer—I cannot get away!

Today's Talk by George Matthew Adams

A MORNING PRAYER

Grant unto me this day, dear Lord, the fullest measure of service.

Cleanses me in mind and heart and make this body of mine a servant to carry out the wishes of your will.

Lead me into this day in the fullness of my ability.

Make me thoughtful of others during every hour. Allow no word or act of mine to mar the beauty or happiness of a single life.

As I go out to work and to earn, talk to me through your spirit to be kind and gentle. And help me to feel your presence during every moment, that I may solve every problem aright and face every new duty with renewed courage of heart.

I know how frail I am—how liable to error—that's why I need you. So stay by all day long, won't you, God?

It's such a beautiful day. Thank you for it! May I use it as though I were to have it forever. May I live it as though it were to be my last.

Help me to put all the usefulness that is in me into this day, God. Don't let me waste a minute.

Make people glad when they see me and make me glad after I have performed some service for each one of them—even though that service be no more than a happy smile or a word of cheer.

Thank you for this body of mine. I am favored far beyond what I deserve. I realize this when I see about me so many others, less favored, though far more courageous than I. Bless them, Lord. Love them to the full.

Warm my heart with your live. God. So many times it feels cold and lonely.

Satisfy this spirit of mine in happy service, unselfishly rendered, and bring me to the close of this day glad and content with having done my best.

Educate my heart today God!

Sunday, September 17th, was Constitution Day, the 135th anniversary of the adoption of that great document which established the principles under which this country is governed.

Some hundred years after the Constitution was adopted, the great English statesman, Wm. Gladstone, said of it that it was, so far as he could see, "the most wonderful work struck in a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

These are times of disregard for law and order. There could be no better corrective than for every citizen of the United States to familiarize himself more fully with the Constitution. Those who do so will be freshly impressed by the amazing way in which it has met the needs of a government established under it, but grown to a power and developed along lines which framers of the document could not forsee.

The Constitution is short, even with the amendments. It is terse and clear. It is splendidly impartial which is one reason why it is attacked so frequently by those who long for group power. It is conservative and yet liberal. Familiarity with it will help the citizen and voter to understand better the fresh suggestions for its amendment and whether they will tend to impair or strengthen it as a force for the public good.

Aliens especially should be encouraged to become more familiar with it, though many of our foreign-born know it better today than our native sons. Radicalism should be a less serious menace among the alien population if every man understood the splendid freedom that is his under the Constitution.

MAINE POINTS THE WAY TO REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

The Republican victory in Maine foreshadows plainly the election of a Republican Congress in November. Despite all the effort to undermine the people's confidence in the Harding administration, the voters who put upon Republican leadership the heavy responsibility of bringing order out of governmental chaos, intend to stand by President Harding and his associates until the work is done.

Maine was made a battle ground by national Democratic leadership this year in the belief that a Republican set back wolud have a decided psychological effect upon the whole country with a general election nearing. With a vigorous candidate for governor, a better organization than they have had for some years and in the belief that there was enough dissatisfaction with the party in power to make opposition success possible, the Democrats of Maine have been hoping and even believing that they might carry the state or at least reduce the Republican plurality to negligible proportions.

The Republican national committee, the Republican national senatorial commitee and the Republican national congressional committee, backing the Maine Republican state and local organizations, accepted the challenge and waged a vigorous campaign on national issues. The result is that Maine has given the biggest off year Republican plurality in the history of the state.

HUGHES AT THE CAPITAL OF BRAZIL.

Secretary of State Hughes, speaking to the American residents of Rio de Janeiro, at the dedication of the site for an American centennial monument at the exposition grounds, explained the attitude of the United States toward the South American countries as one in which all imperialistic sentiment was lacking and defined what he described as the basis of Pan-American sentiment. "You, my fellow-countrymen," said Mr. Hughes, "know full well how sincerely we desire the independence, the unimpaired sovereignty, the political integrity and the constantly increasing prosperity of the people of Latin America. We have our domestic problems incident to the expanding life of a free people; but there is no imperialistic sentiment among us to cast even a shadow across the pathway of our progress. We covet no territory, we seek no conquests; the liberty we cherish for ourselves we desire for others, and we assert no rights for ourselves that we do not accord to others. We sincerely desire to see throughout this hemisphere an abiding peace, a reign of justice and the diffusion of the blessings of beneficent cooperation. It is this desire which forms the basis of Pan-American sentiment."

WHAT FOUR HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS HAVE DONE.

Mrs. Harriet Bridges Clary, writes to The National Republican: "The American people, all races, all religions working harmoniously under the banner of the American Red Cross for the good of humanity, have made an enduring impression upon the different nations of the world. Their great crusade, the greatest of modern times which recently came to an end, spent four hundred million dollars in furnishing the needful supplies to the destitute peoples in the war countries. To the French, to the German, the Austrian, the Serbian, and all races. It will go on record in history that America, unfettered by oppressive treaties, was a brother to all in the World War who needed a brother's helping hand. America has always put her Christianity into deeds. We may well feel proud of the achievements of our country—"so isolated?"

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a girl for about six months and her sister does not want us to go together. I go to see her every night. Do you think her sister will try to separate us if we get married?

VERY TRULY.

Unless you and the girl are of age your marriage would not be legal. Probably the sister realizes that you are too young to marry and that if you did you would not be happy together long. It takes a great deal of money nowadays to go to housekeeping. If you and the girl are old enough to marry, you need not worry about the sister. She can do nothing to separate you if you are not minors.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am married and have been for almost two years. I am only nineteen years old. I have a good position and have been working every day since we were married. I have an office position and am drawing a good salary.

When we were married my husband didn't have anything, but now he has and he says that if I hadn't worked we would have got along all right. I do not believe this, because I have tried to help and save and get something. Then I intended to stop working and I have succeeded in getting my plans fulfilled, but now we have trouble and fusses and he is grouchy and says mean things and doesn't want to take me any place in a crowd for he is so jealous. I can't ask him to go to a show or to visit anyone unless he gets angry before he goes or when he gets home, and I am sure I do not try to make him jealous, but it seems he just can't resist if anyone speaks or talks to me.

We were separated once and have been back together about a month, but it is the same thing over and over and I don't know what to do. I do love him and want to live with him, but I can't go on living my life like this. He says he doesn't care whether he lives with me or not and also that he didn't worry about it when we were separated. If I had known I would never have gone back, even though my heart did ache for him. It is just as bad now as before.

LONELY AND DISCOURAGED.

It would be a mistake, it seems to me, to spend your life with a man who makes you so miserable. Separation would be hard for you at first, but later it would mean contentment and relief from strife.

Perhaps your husband's youth is the cause for the way he acts, and when he is older he will grow more sane and will get over his jealousy and unpleasant dsiposition. If you remain with him, there is little chance that he will change. But if you go away, he will want you back and will work hard to get you. Do not go back until you are confident he has conquered his nature and learned how to be a man.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Some time ago I read in your column of the use of peroxide and ammonia for removing superfluous hair from the arms. Would you please publish it again, giving the proper proportions? E. D.

The preparation to which you refer was not recommended for a depilatory to remove hair immediately. The peroxide lightens the color of the hair so that it is not conspicuous and the combination in time weakens the nourishment of the hair sufficiently to kill it. It is a safe remedy. The proper proportion is six parts of peroxide to one of ammonia.

THE SHERIFF.

No smiles are now adorning my once effulgent phiz; the sheriff came this morning and took away my Liz; he took the choo-choo wagon that I have steered so long; I drink from sorrow's flagon a bitter draught and strong. For years I have cavorted along the Great White Way, while creditors exhorted and begged me for their pay. The butcher and the baker were always on my trail, the sordid undertaker insisted on some kale. In winter and in summer, across the vales and hills, the coal man and the plumber were chasing me with bills. And oftentimes my pastor would read the riot act; "You're headed for disaster," he said, with splendid tact; "you blow your coin for rubber, for tires and gasoline, for patent jack or snubber, and this is base and mean; for all the time you're owing to every merchant's till, and everywhere you're going you're up against a bill. The man," observed the pastor, "who joyrides while in debt, has got a nerve that's vaster than has been charted yet." Ah, sad is my condition, since I am doomed to walk; the sullen-eyed mortician can chase me round a block. The butcher and the grocer, since I have lost my dray, are ever drawing closer—I cannot get away!

Today's Talk by George Matthew Adams

A MORNING PRAYER

Grant unto me this day, dear Lord, the fullest measure of service.

Cleanses me in mind and heart and make this body of mine a servant to carry out the wishes of your will.

Lead me into this day in the fullness of my ability.

Make me thoughtful of others during every hour. Allow no word or act of mine to mar the beauty or happiness of a single life.

As I go out to work and to earn, talk to me through your spirit to be kind and gentle. And help me to feel your presence during every moment, that I may solve every problem aright and face every new duty with renewed courage of heart.

I know how frail I am—how liable to error—that's why I need you. So stay by all day long, won't you, God?

It's such a beautiful day. Thank you for it! May I use it as though I were to have it forever. May I live it as though it were to be my last.

Help me to put all the usefulness that is in me into this day, God. Don't let me waste a minute.

Make people glad when they see me and make me glad after I have performed some service for each one of them—even though that service be no more than a happy smile or a word of cheer.

Thank you for this body of mine. I am favored far beyond what I deserve. I realize this when I see about me so many others, less favored, though far more courageous than I. Bless them, Lord. Love them to the full.

Warm my heart with your live. God. So many times it feels cold and lonely.

Satisfy this spirit of mine in happy service, unselfishly rendered, and bring me to the close of this day glad and content with having done my best.

Educate my heart today God!

STATE DEPARTMENT TAKES HAND IN SPRING HILL OPPORTUNITY SCHOOL CONTROVERSY; PUPILS WILL BE SENT THERE AS PLANNED

Xenia's Opportunity School will open up in the room provided for it in the Spring Hill school building as originally intended Wednesday morning.

This was the announcement of school officials Tuesday after a conference with members of the Board of Education following a visit here of W. B. Bliss, Assistant State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who urged that the move to locate the school as originally intended be carried out.

The introduction of the state department into the question developed when school officials here asked the department for permission to use a room on the third floor of the Central Building, which has been condemned, to house the combined Opportunity Schools. The permission was refused and the Assistant State Superintendent urged that the original intention be carried out.

Plans of Superintendent of Schools C. A. Waltz called for combining all Opportunity School pupils in one school at the Spring Hill building this year and providing transportation for pupils who live at remote distances from that building. The room selected was not in use and was fitted for the occupancy of these special students, with private entrances and equipment to provide warm luncheons.

The movement was designed as an economic measure to eliminate the necessity of renting the Parish House of Christ Episcopal Church on Whiteman Street, to house the up-town school ,and the expense of maintaining another school on Spring Hill, and was in line with the policy of retrenchment the board is putting in effect this year. The plan hit a snag however, when residents of Spring Hill presented petitions signed by practically 100 per cent of the residents, protesting against the use of the Spring Hill building for what they termed a "dumping place." Acting on this protest, Superintendent Waltz again obtained use of the Parish House for the up-town Opportunity School and distributed the Spring Hill Opportunity students among the grades in that school.

Mr Bliss said Tuesday that the state department will not permit the distribution of students in classes at Spring Hill because the classes and rooms are now too crowded. Use of the Parish House, as a school he also discouraged because of the fact that it is poorly ventilated, poorly lighted and poorly heated violating all of the school laws regarding these requirements to provide proper places for students to study. Mr. Bliss encouraged the immediate return to the original plan for holding the Opportunity School and acting on his suggestion Superintendent Waltz issued immediate orders to carry out that program. Pupils now attending the temporay Opportunity School at the Parish House are asked to meet at the yCentral building Wednesday morning where transportation to the Spring Hill building will await them.

HENRY C. FUDGE DIES ON TUESDAY

Henry C. Fudge, 87, retired Greene County farmer, died at his home, 329 Washington Street at 8:45 o'clock Tuesday morning. Death followed an illness of five weeks of neutritis and the infirmities of age.

Mr. Fudge was born in New Jasper Township, July 23, 1835, and for many years lived in Caesarcreek Township, on a farm. For the last 11 years, until six months ago, he had made his home in Xenia Township near Unin, moving to Xenia when his farm home burned down last spring.

Mr. Fudge was the son of George and Sarah Campbell Fudge and the last survivor of a family of eleven children. His marriage to Miss Emmaline Saville took place March 10, 1859, his wife preceding him in death, October 8, 1915. Two children, Mrs. Alice Thomas of this city and Mrs. Rosa M. Stingley of Sabina are the only survivors of his immediate family. He was a member of the Reformed Church at Maple Corner.

The funeral cortege will meet at the home, 329 Washington street, at 1:30 o'clock. Thursday afternoon and proceed to the Reformed Church here, where services will be held at two o'clock. Burial will be made in Woo land Cemetery. Friends may call after seven o'clock Wednesday evening.

STORY OF WOMAN SCORNED IS HEARD

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 19.—The story of the woman scorned was taken up again today. Having told the details of her alleged illicit love romance with Harry Poulin, the haberdasher and man about town, whom she charges with bein gthe father of her 11 months old babe, Mrs. Augusta Tiernan was to face a still greater ordeal in court today.

Counsel for Poulin was prepared to cross examine Mrs. Tiernan and to pick over bit by bit her recitation of the spotted love which caused her to forget her marriage vows and which has brought about the wrecking of her home happiness and a separation with her husband, Professor John Tiernan of thelaw faculty of Notre Dame University.

Suffering from Lime-Starvation?

Dr. Sherman of Columbia University says that half the American people are suffering from lime-starvation. This explains the decay of teeth and lack of "pep." The fault lies in our eating. We "fill up" on foods that fool us—foods that are denatured and almost wholly lacking in the very elements the body requires—lime for the bones and muscles, iron for the blood and vitamin B which every tissue needs. No wonder most of us are only half alive!

If you want to know what a difference complete food makes, just try eating "ZEP" for a week. "ZEP" is something new and delicious in breakfast foods—a complete food in that it supplies the essentials to health and vitality—vitamin B, food iron, and food lime. And delicious? Man, you never sat down to a more enjoyable dish. Ready to serve—with cream, milk or fruit juices.

Ask Your Grocer—for "ZEP" (formerly "PEP") and Sanitarium Cooked Bran—the original Battle Creek Bran. It is the best. Goes fine with "ZEP." Look for the yellow package with red seals.

Stingley of Sabina are the only survivors of his immediate family. He was a member of the Reformed Church at Maple Corner.

The funeral cortege will meet at the home, 329 Washington street, at 1:30 o'clock. Thursday afternoon and proceed to the Reformed Church here, where services will be held at two o'clock. Burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call after seven o'clock Wednesday evening.

STORY OF WOMAN SCORNED IS HEARD

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 19.—The story of the woman scorned was taken up again today. Having told the details of her alleged illicit love romance with Harry Poulin, the haberdasher and man about town, whom she charges with bein gthe father of her 11 months old babe, Mrs. Augusta Tiernan was to face a still greater ordeal in court today.

Counsel for Poulin was prepared to cross examine Mrs. Tiernan and to pick over bit by bit her recitation of the spotted love which caused her to forget her marriage vows and which, has brought about the wrecking of her home happiness and a separation with her husband, Professor John Tiernan of thelaw faculty of Notre Dame University.

USED BY THREE GENERATIONS

"I use Foley's Honey an Tar personally, give it to all my children and now to my grandchildren with the same good results. I tried many kinds of cough medicines, but never want anything but Foley's Honey and Tar," writes Mrs. E. K. Olson, Superior, Wisc. Foley's Honey and Tar was established in 1875 and has stood the test of time serving three generations. It quickly relieves colds, coughs and croup, throat, chest and bronchial trouble. ACHES AND PAINS VANISH ALMOST AS IF BY MAGIC; RHEUMATISM IS BANISHED DECLARES LOCAL MAN

Perhaps no man has done more good for Springleld than the Viora Man who is now demonstrating Viora Remedies at Sohn's drug store. It as pleasing to note the vast number of people who daily call at Sohn's and tell how they have been relieved of various ailments.

Among the recent callers was Joe Welch, 514 York street, who told how he had been relieved of severe pains in his arms and limbs. Says Mr. Welch. "For ten weeks I had been in bad shape. My arms and legs pained me until I could hardly use them.

"I had a poor appetite and was restless at night. Sometimes I was in such misery I didn't know what to do. Finally I tried Viora and relief came almost over night, so to speak. I had only taken a few doses until I felt better. The pains in my arms and limbs disappeared and then my appetite returned. I know my nerves are better because I can go to bed and sleep all night without waking up. Viora is a grand remedy."

People who are troubled with rheumatism should not fail to try Viora Rheumatic Remedy. You can rely on it. There is no one Viora Remedy made to relieve every ailment. On the contrary every ailment has a special remedy. These remedies are the result of years of experience.

If you don't feel right call at Sohn's Drug Store. See what Viora Remedies are doing for others. Try the one best suited for your ailment. The expense is small. The price is from 25c to $1.00 with an iron clad guarantee backed by the Sohn Drug Store that every cent will be refunded if entire satisfaction is not obtained.

Suffering from Lime-Starvation?

Dr. Sherman of Columbia University says that half the American people are suffering from lime-starvation. This explains the decay of teeth and lack of "pep." The fault lies in our eating. We "fill up" on foods that fool us—foods that are denatured and almost wholly lacking in the very elements the body requires—lime for the bones and muscles, iron for the blood and vitamin B which every tissue needs. No wonder most of us are only half alive!

If you want to know what a difference complete food makes, just try eating "ZEP" for a week. "ZEP" is something new and delicious in breakfast foods—a complete food in that it supplies the essentials to health and vitality—vitamin B, food iron, and food lime. And delicious? Man, you never sat down to a more enjoyable dish. Ready to serve—with cream, milk or fruit juices.

Ask Your Grocer—for "ZEP" (formerly "PEP") and Sanitarium Cooked Bran—the original Battle Creek Bran. It is the best. Goes fine with "ZEP." Look for the yellow package with red seals.

D. A. R. TO HELP DISABLED VETERANS

Tubercular veterans of the World War under treatment at the National Military Home Hospital, Dayton, will be afforded a few luxuries in the way of foodstuffs, it is announced by members of the Daughters of the American Revolution following a meeting of the Jonathan Dayton Chapter, Monday.

Members of the organization accompanied delegates to the American Legion Auxiliary to the hospital recently and witnessed the serving of the evening meal. The quality of the foodstuffs, led to the Chapter taking action in seeing that more luxuries are afforded the patients, including fresh eggs, fruits and jellies.

Mrs. William M. Wilson of this city, State Regent of the order, attended the Dayton Chapter meeting and is much interested in the movement decided upon.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. WM. S. HUGHES, Greenville, Delaware.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mothers—daughters, why not try it?

Kellogg's Corn Flakes

are a taste thrill at meals or any time

That's because Kellogg's Corn Flakes are so deliciously flavored—the Kellogg flavor that is known all over the civilized world! You, as well as the little folks, can eat great bowlfuls of Kellogg's Corn Flakes day after day—and each sunny-brown, crispy, crunchy spoonful thrills the taste as though it was the first!

Put Kellogg's in comparison with imitation corn flakes! Kellogg's Corn Flakes are never tough or leathery or hard to eat! They are all-the-time crisp, all-the-time good! Don't miss such enjoyment!

Insist upon Kellogg's in the RED and GREEN package that bears the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Corn Flakes! NONE ARE GENUINE WITHOUT IT!

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not willingly take bitter things. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; coal tar disguised in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 28 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite or sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

I REPEAT MY FREE OFFER

$10,000 worth of trial bottles of Syrup Pepsin free

Last year I agreed to spend $10,000 cash for free samples of my Syrup Pepsin, and send them free and postage paid to all who asked. A tremendous mail was the result. But there must be many who did not write. I would like to get their address this time. So I now renew my offer, in remembrance of my approaching 84th birthday, and will again devote $10,000 to free samples. I am anxious to see one in every American home. Write for yours today. Simply give me your address. Send it to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Mine is truly a free gift; it costs the public nothing.

Indomitable Durant

It is said in automotive circles that W. C. Durant accomplishes what he plans; to him difficulties are so many spurs to greater effort, making one get on the faster.

He is the man who made the Buick. He conceived and organized General Motors, including Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oakland and Oldsmobile. Certainly a considerable monument to one man's tireless energy.

But now, when many men would be content to enjoy a well-earned vacation, he is up to the armpits in the business of launching the crowning effort of his career.

It's "just a real good car," Durant says. "If it's good enough for him to christen with his own name, it's good enough for us," said the trade, and in 141 working days after the announcement they contracted for $31,000,000 worth of Durant cars.

MASTERS' RECOMMENDATION

FOR RHEUMATISM

Gout, Ulcers, and Blood Diseases. acts on the liver and kidneys. It is a body cleanser, and a nerve tonic. It seldom fails. In fact, it fails so seldom that we agree to return the purchase price to any user who is not satisfied.

The wholesome ingredients in the little capsules of Masters' Recommendation, contain nothing violent or harmful. They work gently but surely. It usually takes four or five boxes to complete the cleansing, but a great improvement is almost always felt before all of the first box has been taken.

Men attach their names only to wares of which they are proud. Knowing the great capacity of Masters' Recommendation, to relieve suffering, I am proud to put my name as a stamp of approval on it.

To insure personal satisfaction Masters' Recommendation is sold directly by mail. If we didn't treat you square, Uncle Sam would soon tend to us.

Send $1.00 for one box (twelve days' treatment.)

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. WM. S. HUGHES, Greenville, Delaware.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mothers—daughters, why not try it?

"Come on, Alice, you know Mother said we are going to have Kellogg's Corn Flakes for lunch. And that's the kind I like to eat about a whole box of, because they ain't tough to eat! Come on an' hurry up!"

Kellogg's Corn Flakes

are a taste thrill at meals or any time

That's because Kellogg's Corn Flakes are so deliciously flavored—the Kellogg flavor that is known all over the civilized world! You, as well as the little folks, can eat great bowlfuls of Kellogg's Corn Flakes day after day—and each sunny-brown, crispy, crunchy spoonful thrills the taste as though it was the first!

Put Kellogg's in comparison with imitation corn flakes! Kellogg's Corn Flakes are never tough or leathery or hard to eat! They are all-the-time crisp, all-the-time good! Don't miss such enjoyment!

Insist upon Kellogg's in the RED and GREEN package that bears the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Corn Flakes! NONE ARE GENUINE WITHOUT IT!

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not willingly take bitter things. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; coal tar disguised in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 28 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite or sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

I REPEAT MY FREE OFFER

$10,000 worth of trial bottles of Syrup Pepsin free

Last year I agreed to spend $10,000 cash for free samples of my Syrup Pepsin, and send them free and postage paid to all who asked. A tremendous mail was the result. But there must be many who did not write. I would like to get their address this time. So I now renew my offer, in remembrance of my approaching 84th birthday, and will again devote $10,000 to free samples. I am anxious to see one in every American home. Write for yours today. Simply give me your address. Send it to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Mine is truly a free gift; it costs the public nothing.

Indomitable Durant

It is said in automotive circles that W. C. Durant accomplishes what he plans; to him difficulties are so many spurs to greater effort, making one get on the faster.

He is the man who made the Buick. He conceived and organized General Motors, including Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oakland and Oldsmobile. Certainly a considerable monument to one man's tireless energy.

But now, when many men would be content to enjoy a well-earned vacation, he is up to the armpits in the business of launching the crowning effort of his career.

It's "just a real good car," Durant says. "If it's good enough for him to christen with his own name, it's good enough for us," said the trade, and in 141 working days after the announcement they contracted for $31,000,000 worth of Durant cars.

CITY SCHOOLS TO OBSERVE WEEK OF FIRE PREVENTION

Special services in all schools in the city will mark the observance of Fire Prevention Week, October 2 to 9, according to Superintendent of Schools C. A. Waltz.

Fire Prevention Week has been mark the beginning of the annual twice a week fire prevention program that is carried for the rest of the year after each Fire Prevention Week, according to Superintendent Waltz.

The program in the city schools during this week will be held on Friday, and will begin with fire drills, at all the schools in the morning. Fire Captain L. B. Clair will probably be asked to deliver at least two short lectures in schools during the afternoon on the causes of fires and fire fighting. In the upper grades and high schools, two or three pupils will be selected to read papers on the costs of fires in Ohio, the great Chicago fires and others bearing on the subject. At least a half-hour more will be devoted to instructions in fire provention.

Fire Prevention Weew has been fixed by a proclamation issued by Governor Harry L. Davis.

MUST APPLY TO COLUMBUS FOR TAGS

As soon as license tags on hand can be returned, automobile owners will have to make application for their license plates directly to the Secretary of State.

In order to check up on the number of licenses sold, Secretary of State Smith has issued a call for all agencies handling the plates to return them at once. Licenses still kept on hand by City Auditor T. H. Zell who acted as agent this year, will be sent back immediately.

Until the licenses for 1923 are received applications will have to be made to Columbus.

C. OF C. WILL HOLD INITIAL MEETING EARLY IN OCTOBER

Plans for the first meeting of the Chamber of Commerce for the winter season were discussed at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the organization held Monday evening.

The initial meeting is scheduled for the first Thursday in October, when the board hopes to have a good speaker entertain after the usual dinner in the Chamber of Commerce dining room. The date set is tentative and is subject to change if a speaker can not be obtained then.

Col. Sylvis Garver, superintendent of the O. S. and S. O. Home, and leading member of the United Spanish American War Veterans of Ohio, discussed plans for the state convention of that organization to be held next June, with the directors. No definite plans were laid and committees have not yet been named.

President Karl B. Bloom of the Chamber of Commerce expects to announce the annual selection of committees soon.

RULES FINES MUST BE PAID BACK TO MOTORISTS CAUGHT

Motorists caught in the speed-trap maintained by a justice of the peace in Wayne Township, Montgomery County, will be returned the money they paid in fines and casts through the efforts of the Dayton Automobile Club.

Investigation into the alleged extortion practiced by Justice of the Peace George C. French and his constables, Hayes Reed and William Gruber, has disclosed that the three men must return about $2,000 into the treasury of Wayne Township to be refunded to motorist victims, acording to State Examiner J. S. Clifton.

Attorney's for the Automobile Club had French and Reed brought before Common Pleas Judge Patterson several months ago when it was charged they were illegally obtaining money from motorists charged with exceeding the speed limit Motorists were told that if they would pay $10 and costs they would not be taken before the squire, where the fine and costs would be much higher. Blank receipts countersigned by French were in possession of the constables to receipt for the fine and costs.

Judge Patterson ordered the money turned over to the Automobile Club for refunding purposes, but State Examiner Clifton later ordered the money paid back to the township treasurer, who will pay it back to motorists. French will have to stand for about $1,000 while the two constables will be required to pay about $500 apiece. If the money is not paid back the grand jury will be asked to investigate the extortion charges. Several Xenia motorists will probably receive refunds from fines paid.

THE PENNANT RACE

Both the Yankees and the Giants gained ground in the fight for the pennant yesterday. Today the Yankees are a game and a half ahead of the Browns, due to their victory in the final game of the series between the two teams. The Giants gained half a game on the Pirates when they defeated the Reds while the Pirates broke even with the Phillies. The Giants now have a lead of six games.

Today the Yankees meet the Tigers while the Browns clash with the Senators. The Yanks have had a hard time beating the Tigers this season and if Cobb's men upset New York again while the Browns win, the Yankees advantage will dwindle. The Yanks, however, have the better of the fight now. The Browns must win two more than the Yanks in the remaining conflicts to get a tie in the pennant fight. The Yanks have ten more games to play while the Browns have nine.

The Giants have 13 more games to play. They can win the pennant by taking seven of them, no matter if the Pirates win their remaining eleven contests. The two teams clash at the Polo Grounds tomorrow. Even if the Pirates win the three games they will not wrest the lead from the Giants, only tighten up the race. If the Giants should win only one of the three games the Pirates chances for the pennant are nil.

HELPED HIS BACK

Backache, rheumatic pains, dizziness and blurred vision are symptoms of kidney trouble. "My husband had a bad back," writes Mrs. M. McCullough, Easton, Pa. "When he sat down he could hardly get up and then he would be drawn over to one side. He tried Foley Kidney Pills and they cured him." Foley Kidney Pills quickly relieve kidney and bladder trouble. A Stenographer's Romance

BY JANE PHELPS

A TILT WITH ONE OF THE GIRLS
CHAPTER 74

As perhaps was natural in an office where a number of girls were employed there was considerable jealousy because of Nellie's promotion. She was one of the youngest of the girls and some of them had been with the firm much longer than she. They did not stop to think that it is neither age nor length of service that makes an employee valuable but that employee does—is capable of doing. And not one among the girls had ever thrown themselves into their work with the determinination to make good that Nellie had. Naturally Miss Jones' help had been of aid, but even without it Nellie would probably have been the one selected to act as Mr. George Fallon's secretary. Her brightness, her quick grasp of the work had been noticeable when she with the elder Mr. Fallon.

Lena Danforth a girl several years older than Nellie, had shown her resentment more plainly than any of the others.

"It wasn't fair to pass us girls, who have been here a long time, and put that Riley girl in Miss Jones' place," Nellie heard her say one rainy noon as she passed the cloak-room. "Every one can see she's making up to Mr. George. I saw it long ago. She's so bold about it, too. I had to go into his room the other day and when she looked at him!—just talk about goo-goo eyes!"

"You are lying, Lena Danforth," Nellie burst out from the open doorway. "It's a dirty lie. You never saw me try to attract any man's attention. Never will!"

Nellie turned away, angry tears filling her eyes and right back of her stood George Fallon.

What had he heard?

Nellie flushed crimson with embarrassment. Had he only heard her unladylike retort; or had he also heard what Lena Danforth said? It would be bad enough to have him hear her course language; it would be unbearable to have him know what caused it."

Nellie trembled with anger and embarrassment. She could scarcely raise her eyes when Mr. Fallon spoke:

What is it, young ladies?" he asked quietly. He looked from one to the other waiting an answer.

"I told Miss Riley something. Rather I said something to the girls, and she butted in and told me I lied," Lena replied, a snear on her lips. She felt safe. Nellie would never tell him just what had been said.

"I am sorry to have any trouble among our employees. I wish you would apologize if you have hurt Miss Riley by anything you have said; that she will apologize to you for the language she used."

Nellie spoke quickly:

"I am sorry, Miss Danforth for the language I used and apoloize for that; am thoroughly ashamed of myself. But you were absolutely wrong in your statement and I can't apologize for denying it."

"That's no apology," Lena sneered.

"It is all that I can give," Nellie replied, then she turned to Mr. Fallon. "I am very sorry, Mr. Fallon, that you should have overheard me so forget myself. It shall not happen again." Tears filled her eyes.

"I am sure you had provocation,"," he said so low Lena could not hear.

"I surely did—but that doesn't excuse me."

All that evening Nellie was very quiet. She refused to go out for a walk with Donald; even declined Mrs. Robert's invitation to come to her room.

She could not dismiss from her mind the idea that Mr. Fallon had heard what Lena had said; that he knew the girls thought she was making "goo-goo eyes" at him. Her humiliation made her almost ill.

"He never will respect me again!" she said aloud as she sat by the window in her darkened room. "Never! That awful language, the kind I used to use when I lived at the Corners with Miss Carter! I thought I had learned better. But I guess once you're nobody it crops out, no matter how hard you try. I don't see why God didn't let me—be born right—instead of having to make myself and —failing."

Nellie seldom cried, but that night her pillow was wet with tears and in the morning her eyes showed the effect of her grief. After all the bathing she had time to give them she knew Mr. Fallon would see she had been weeping. She hoped he wouldn't mention it; hoped the other girls would not observe it.

Tomorrow—Mr. Fallon Reassures Nellie.

A Stenographer's Romance

BY JANE PHELPS

A TILT WITH ONE OF THE GIRLS
CHAPTER 74

As perhaps was natural in an office where a number of girls were employed there was considerable jealousy because of Nellie's promotion. She was one of the youngest of the girls and some of them had been with the firm much longer than she. They did not stop to think that it is neither age nor length of service that makes an employee valuable but that employee does—is capable of doing. And not one among the girls had ever thrown themselves into their work with the determination to make good that Nellie had. Naturally Miss Jones' help had been of aid, but even without it Nellie would probably have been the one selected to act as Mr. George Fallon's secretary. Her brightness, her quick grasp of the work had been noticeable when she with the elder Mr. Fallon.

Lena Danforth a girl several years older than Nellie, had shown her resentment more plainly than any of the others.

"It wasn't fair to pass us girls, who have been here a long time, and put that Riley girl in Miss Jones' place," Nellie heard her say one rainy noon as she passed the cloak-room. "Every one can see she's making up to Mr. George. I saw it long ago. She's so bold about it, too. I had to go into his room the other day and when she looked at him!—just talk about goo-goo eyes!"

"You are lying, Lena Danforth," Nellie burst out from the open doorway. "It's a dirty lie. You never saw me try to attract any man's attention. Never will!"

Nellie turned away, angry tears filling her eyes and right back of her stood George Fallon.

What had he heard?

Nellie flushed crimson with embarrassment. Had he only heard her unladylike retort; or had he also heard what Lena Danforth said? It would be bad enough to have him hear her course language; it would be unbearable to have him know what caused it."

Nellie trembled with anger and embarrassment. She could scarcely raise her eyes when Mr. Fallon spoke:

What is it, young ladies?" he asked quietly. He looked from one to the other waiting an answer.

"I told Miss Riley something. Rather I said something to the girls, and she butted in and told me I lied," Lena replied, a snear on her lips. She felt safe. Nellie would never tell him just what had been said.

"I am sorry to have any trouble among our employees. I wish you would apologize if you have hurt Miss Riley by anything you have said; that she will apologize to you for the language she used."

Nellie spoke quickly:

"I am sorry, Miss Danforth for the language I used and apoloize for that; am thoroughly ashamed of myself. But you were absolutely wrong in your statement and I can't apologize for denying it."

"That's no apology," Lena sneered.

"It is all that I can give," Nellie replied, then she turned to Mr. Fallon. "I am very sorry, Mr. Fallon, that you should have overheard me so forget myself. It shall not happen again." Tears filled her eyes.

"I am sure you had provocation,"," he said so low Lena could not hear.

"I surely did—but that doesn't excuse me."

All that evening Nellie was very quiet. She refused to go out for a walk with Donald; even declined Mrs. Robert's invitation to come to her room.

She could not dismiss from her mind the idea that Mr. Fallon had heard what Lena had said; that he knew the girls thought she was making "goo-goo eyes" at him. Her humiliation made her almost ill.

"He never will respect me again!" she said aloud as she sat by the window in her darkened room. "Never! That awful language, the kind I used to use when I lived at the Corners with Miss Carter! I thought I had learned better. But I guess once you're nobody it crops out, no matter how hard you try. I don't see why God didn't let me—be born right—instead of having to make myself and —failing."

Nellie seldom cried, but that night her pillow was wet with tears and in the morning her eyes showed the effect of her grief. After all the bathing she had time to give them she knew Mr. Fallon would see she had been weeping. She hoped he wouldn't mention it; hoped the other girls would not observe it.

Tomorrow—Mr. Fallon Reassures Nellie.

ARMY INCREASE FIGHT TO FACE NEXT CONGRESS

Addition of 25,000 Men As Nucleus to War Machine Sought

WOULD PREVENT LOSS

Large Force Necessary Declare Those in Support of Agitation.

Washington Oct. 19.—General Pershing's appeal for an increase of 25,000 men in the size of the standing army will be the basis for a new "bigger army" fight in the next Congress. Senator Warren, Republican of Wyoming, chairman of the senate appropriation committee announced today.

Warren declared the increase would be justified as an "insurance against war" and to "prevent the terrible financial losses inflicted on this country at the outbreak of the world war." Warren declared legislation would be introduced enlarging the present army to 150,000 and 13.000 officers.

The present standing army—125,000 men and 12,000 officers—has limited American military operations, according to Warren. He supported statements made by Secretary Weeks and Gen. Pershing chief of staff, that the existing size did not provide sufficient men to form a nucleus for the war-time army necessary should war break out.

The "bigger army" fight, according to all indications, will be successful in the Senate but its fate in the House is uncertain. During the last session of Congress, the army appropriation bill fixed the present limit only after the House had rejected larger figures. The Senate originally passeded the 150,000 men and 13.000 officer size but it was stricken out in conference when house leaders threatened to defeat the entire appropriation bill. With Secretary Weeks demanding the increase and administration leaders supporting him observers believe there is a probability of its passage. The passing election, it was said, will remove considerable opposition especially if the president should recommend the increase.

Changes in modern warfare demand a larger standing army in the interests of natural safety than at any previous time in the history of our country," sid Warren. "Chemical warfare machine gunnery, anti-aircraft forces, tank corps and aviation demand special trained men whereas in the old days it was only infantry, cavalry and artillery.

"Billions of dollars were lost at the outbreak of the world war because we did not have trained men to form the nucleus of these new branches of the service. We had to experiment and it cost a fearfull toll of dollars and lives before we put trained men in the field.

"The lessons of the world war must not be forgotten. America needs an army of 150,000 men. While taxes may be slightly higher they will not be a proportionate increase and this 'step in time' may save us billions when the next war or threat of war comes. Had we been prepared in 1917 this nation probably would not have entered the world war for Germany then would have feared our power."

SUIT ON FILE BUT PARTIES ARE DEAD

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 19—suit, styled Jake L. Hamon vs Warren Wagner, is on file in District Court here.

The suit involves about $750 and was filed originally by Hamon against Wagner in Eastland County. It has now been transferred to this Court.

Both Hamon and Wagner are now dead, and both met violent deaths. Hamon was killed by Clara Smith Hamon, who after a sensational trial was acquitted. Hamon was a millionaire and prominent in Republican atioal politics.

Wagner, another oil man, was killed in this city. Floyd Holmes was tried for the killing and acquitted.

The suit is now being carried on by relatives of the descendants.

Court Orders Tax And Beer Proposals on Ballot

State Supreme Court Over-rules Decree of Common Pleas and Upholds Action of Franklin County Appellate Court

Columbus. Oct. 19.—The proposed taxation, debt limitation and beer-light wines amendments to the state constitution, will appear on the Nov. ballot.

ThTe State Supreme Court, late yesterday, handed down its decision upholding the action of the Frannlin County Appellate Court, ruling the decree of Common Pleas Judge Kinkead, who ordered Secretary of State Smith not to place the taxation and debt limitation proposals on the ballot.

The Supreme Court's decision which was unanimous, held that the use of an indelible pencil in attaching signatures to the initiated petitions supporting these proposals complied with the constitutional provision that the signatures to the hrdl sion that the signatures must be in ink.

The supreme judges also turned down the contentions by opponents of these prpsals tht theo axation and debt limitation petitions were filed with Secretary of State Smith too late to get on the ballot, that the synopsis for the taxation prposal was misleading. and that it was unconstitutional to use the initiative and referendum in enacting law authorizing classificaton of property.

BUSINESS SIDE OF FARMING STRESSED BY SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WALLACE

Need of Balanced Production In This Country Should Be Studied Declares Government Official At Washington C. H.

Washington, C. H., O., Oct. 19.—"The farmer," said Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace in an address here last night, advocating the election of the Republican congressional and state candidates and reviewing the legislation enacted for his benefit by the 67th congress, "must give attention to what I call, the business side of farming. So far as efficient production is concerned, the farmers of the United State, lead the world. In balanced production—that is, in the adjustment of production to the needs of the consumers, and in marketing their crols to the best advantage there is room for vast improvement.

"There are men going up and down the land peddling all sorts of quack remedies for farmers troubles. Many of them are now seeking to be placed in positions of power in order that they may apply their supposed remedies. Now, quack remedies for economic troubles, like quack remedies for human ills, always do more harm than good and leave the patient worse than he was before. Our troubles are economic, not political, and they can be cured by clear thinking and sound reasoning from known facts.

"An encouraging development of the last two years is the better appreciation by the general public of the national dependence upon a prosperous agriculture. Men engaged in commerce and industry and general business have a better understanding of, and are more sympathetic with the farmer's problems than ever before The inter-dependence of agriculture and business of all kinds has been made clear. Because of this better understanding and higher appreciation it is going to be much easier for agriculture to be reestablished upon a sound and enduring basis.

The following congressional acts were cited as things done for the farmer by the administration:

The emergency tariff; the revival of the war finance corporation; increased capital for farm land banks; modifiaction of interest rate on bonds of joint stock land banks; provision for agricultural representation on federal reserve board; the packers and stock yards act; the grain futures act and the law t oprotect farmers' cooperative associations from improper prosecution.

SCENE OF MURDER WAS LONELY BARN IS LATEST THEORY

Structure Four Miles From Spot Where the Bodies Were Found.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 19.—New evidence, indicating that Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and the choir singer, Mrs. James Mills, were murdered in a lonely barn four miles from the spot where their bodies were found, was being checked up by the Somerset and Middlesex County authorities today.

Two side combs and two handkerchiefs stained with blood were found near this barn. The combs and at least one of the handkerchiefs are said to have been identified by 16 year old Charlotte Mills as belonging to her mother—the slain woman.

Two new witnesses have been found who told the county authorities that they passed near the old barn in a motor car about 10:30 o'clock on the night of September 14, and that they heard the agonized screams of a woman pleading for her life.

The new witnesses both men, were driving from Red Bank to this city and the road they followed took them near the barn where the double murder is now believed to have been committed.

Cries of "help, help, murder! police! for God's sake do not kill me!" came from the vicinity of the barn.

The car in which the two men were driving passed within 20 or 30 feet of the spot here the woman was begging for her life but it was so dark that they could not distinguish the persons embroiled in the quarrel.

FEAR UPRISING IN CONSTANTINOPLE

GREEKS' FLIGHT TAKES TERRIBLE TURN IN THRACE

Panic Stricken Hordes Turned Back From Bulgarian Frontier

HALF MILLION TO GO

Terrorized Rabble in Throes of Hunger and Cold are On March.

Constantinople, Oct. 19.—The Bulgarian frontier was closed today to prevent panic stricken hordes of Greek Christian refugees from swarming into that country from Thrace.

Nearly half a million Greek and Armenian fugitives have taken refuge in Macedonia. All are without food, clothing, shelter or funds. They are dependent upon the bounty of the Greek government and outside charity.

A quarter of a million refugees are still to be deported from eastern Thrace. They are being rounded up and "herded" by Greek cavalry. The scenes remind one of a cattle round up in Texas or some other American western state.

Owing to the cold rainy weather and the shortage of railway cars and steamships the work of evacuating the Christians is proceeding more slowly than the allies wish. Some of the concentration camps have been turned into mudholes by the rain and the brilliant clothing of the Thracian peasants is being stained to a muddy brown.

The allied commanders are still refusing to allow the Turkish gendarmerie to enter this city. A boat load of Turkish military police that was crossing to European soil turned back for some reason or other. It is understood that the allies fear a nationalist uprising here if Turkish troops appear.

The flight of the Greeks from their farms in eastern Thrace, presents a tragic picture. For 20 miles the fugitives are spread over the countryside. The roads are cluttered with carts drawn by bullocks, donkeys and horses. Even cows have been utilized to carry off what household effects could be saved.

The roads have been turned into quagmires by the rail which has been falling continuously for three days and three nights. The mud is being churned into a great deep and sticky swamp by the thousands of feet plodding over it. Stretching south and west of Adrianople for many miles are long lines of fugitives—men, women and children. Many of the residents of the northern part of Thrace were headed for the Bulgarian boundry when they learned that the border had been closed. Then began a mad race for the Maritz river—the western frontier of that part of Thrace to be taken over by Turkey. Occasionally the cry, "The Turks are coming" would be sounded.

Cries of panic would fill the air. The oxen and horses drawing the ancient and heavy carts would be whipped up. Women would clasp their children into their arms. Then men would struggle forward with what speed they could mage against the thick, glue-like mud.

The "Turks" would prove to be a detachment of Greek cavalry. The Greek horsemen would urge the fugitives forward with the unceasing demand for speed, speed.

The Greek commander warned the Christian fugities that there was no time to be lost.

"Even now Turkish gendarmerie are crossing from Asia into Thrace and there are but few allied troops here to watch them," the Greek commanders explained over and over.

The leaders among the straggling refugees would listen apatheically and nod assent then ould shamble forward with heads bent forward, apparently in a daze until the shout would go up again: "The Turks are coming."

The old terror again would break out only to die down in the general gloom that pervaded the exodus.

All the roads leading to the Maritzia are clogged by thousands of Greeks and Armenians. Every class of people are represented. But most of them are peasants. They do not what their ultimate destination is to be. All they know is that once they cross the Maritza river they will be safe behind the Greek frontier and the Turks will not be able to cut them down.

The plight of these refugees is terrible to contemplate. They are without homes, without funds and most of them have only what they could carry in their arms. Greece, especially Macedonia, is already over run with hundreds of thousands of refugees. The country is suffering from lack of food and the Athens government is without adequate funds to care for the homeless. The only remedy seems to be an appeal to the League of Nation and public charity.

THOUGHT SHE COULD HAVE MANY HUSBANDS

Cincinnati, Oct. 19.—Puzzled over the fact that she shouldn't have as many husbands as she pleased, a 26-year-old woman, who told the police that she was Mrs. Marie Foster alias Mrs. Marie Strauss and might probably also be Mrs. Marie Mitchell was arrested last night on a charge of disorderly conduct when Phillip Strauss and Charles Foster met and clashed as to whose wife she really was. Strauss claimed priority for having married her on Feb. 2, 1920, at her home in Concord, N. C., where he was known as Stearns, and Foster displayed a marrige license showing that he and the woman were married in Newport, Ky, lat Saturday while in Newport, Ky., last Saturday while the woman went them one better by remembering vaguely that she had married Harry Mitchell in 1911.

DID NOT RECALL FEDERAL OFFICIAL

Washington Oct. 19.—Ocicial denial was made at the White House today that President Harding was in any way responsible for Col. Charles R. Forbes abruptly leaving the American Legion convention at New Orleans and returning to ashington.

The head of the veterans bureau who looked upon as an administration representative at New Orleans is reported to have left the convention nettled over his treatment at the hands of the legionnaires.

LLOYD GEORGE ONE OF MOST SPECTACULAR FIGURES IN HISTORY OF ENGLAND

David Lloyd George who Thursday resigned as British premier is one of the most spectacular figures in the long, stormy political history of England. He is one of the outstanding statesmen of the war. He was last of the so called "war premiers" classifying Woodrow Wilson with this group. It is claimed by many that he was "made" premier by the late Lord Northcliffe. At any rate Northcliffe turned against him and for two years before his death Northcliffe thundered at the premier through the columns of his newspapers, attacking his policies and demanding his resignation.

Lloyd George plans a long rest and will do considerable writing. He has long wished to visit the United States and may do so later on.

Lloyd George's career has been similar to that of many self made American statesmen. He was a poor boy and had a hard struggle to get an education. He studied law and entered politicis. He was one of the most eloquent premiers that ever addressed the house and in pleading the cause of compromise in disputes he has no peer.

HARDING PLAN FOR ASSEMBLING CONGRESS DRAWS OPPOSITION

Progressive Leaders Urge President to Summon Lawmakers in Extra Session as Early As Possible.

Washington, Oct. 19—President Harding is being urged by progressive leaders to summon Congress back to Washington in extra sesion as quickly as possible after the election on November 7. The tentative program agreed to at the White House a few days ago, that the president would not call the new session until November 20, and that he planned to give the country a long rest from Congress next summer, has proved disquieting to a number of influential leaders at the capital. They take the view that conditions will not perit of a recess from next March until the following December unless the short session this winter breaks all speed records.

A formidable program will confront the 67th Congress, and many of its leaders believe no time should be lost in tackling it as soon as the election is out of the way. Instead of calling Congress back on November 20, pressure is being brought to bear on the White House to issue the call for the extra session before election day for November 10.

AMERICANS AID REFUGEES IN SMYRNA

The American Red Cross has promised to spend $20.000,000, if necessary to care for the 400000 refugees in Smyrna. Here is a group of the poverty- stricken Greeks gathered around one of the consular offices in the city that was not burned.

Court Proceedings Amuse "Doll" Mother

Husband of Woman Accused of Slaying of "Twins" Takes Stand in Mystery Case In Indiana Thrsday.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 19.—Frank McNally, star witness for the prosecution in the "baby doll murder mystery" was expected to take the witness stand in city court today to testify against his wife, Mrs. Hazel McNally, whom he accuses of slaying their twin babies.

McNally, a glum looking man who professes 47, appears to be at least ten years older, asserts that after his wife made away with the babies she substituted dolls, deceiving not only him but all the neighbors.

To which charge, Mrs. McNally, the pretty 26 year old wife laughs at.

The court proceedings seem to amuse her. Often she snickers behind a gloved hand as the neighbors testify as to what they saw—or though they saw.

"I did not have babies—I had dolls," Mrs. McNally told newspapermen, adding she bought the dolls because her husband was "crazy for children."

Mrs. McNally got a broad smile, almost a laugh, out of the testimony of Lloyd McNally, her husband's son who related how tenderly the "father" had carried one of the "dummy twins."

LEGION THROTTLES CONDEMNATION OF GENERAL SAWYER

New Orleans, Oct. 19.—The American Legion convention today demanded the removal of Brig.Gen. Sawyer as hospitalization head.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 19.—Further condemnation of the policy pursued by Brig. General Sawyer, president Harding's personal physician, as head of the federal hospitalization board, was throttled this morning by "the conservative" element in the American Legion national convention.

NEW ELECTION IS SOUGHT BY TORY MEMBERS

Defeat of Austen Chamberlain Announced On Thursday.

ELECTION FAVORED

A. Bonar Law Slated As Next Premier It Is Reported.

London, Oct. 19.—6:30 p. m.—The premiership has been offered to A. Bonar Law, a Unionist. It was learned this evening. An announcement was made that Premier Lloyd George's resigation is not effective until Mr. Law accepts, although the king already has accepted the cabinet's resignation.

London, Oct. 19.—The last of the great war statesmen went into eclipse today when Premier David Lloyd George of England resigned together with the rest of the coalition government. Lloyd George had been in power six years lacking a few weeks. He succeeded Herbert Asquith, in December 1916, when the great war was raging.

The premier presented his own resignation and that of the other members of the cabinet to King George this evening.

The conference of Mr. Lloyd George and King George was brief. Smiling breezily the Walsh statesman returned from Buckingham palace to Downing street, where a delegation of miners was awaiting him.

"Gentlemen, I have the privilege to tell you that I am no longer premier," said Mr. Lloyd George. "I have resigned to the king and he has accepted."

The resignations of the other members of the government were accepted by the king at the some time.

London Oct. 19.—Immediate resignation of all the Tory members of the government is anticipated as a result of the action of the Tory members of Parliament today, voting in favor of a general election at once.

By a vote of 186 to 87 the unionists decided that the Tory party "should go before the country at once under the conservative leadership to ascertain the desires of the people."

This was tantamount to defeat of Austen Chamberlain, a member of the Lloyd George coalition government, who had asked the Unionists Parliamentarians in a speech to support the cabinet.

The Central news circulated a report that A. Bonar Law, advocated that the Unionists should conduct their political campaign entiely independent of the Unionist-Liberal coalition.

There will be another meeting of Tory leaders other than members of parliament next week.

Unionist members of parliament met behind closed doors at the Carlton Club today to decide the fate of the Lloyd George coalition government. A great crowd which gathered outside uttered shouts of derision as Austen Chamberlain government spokesman in the House of Commons entered. Mr. Chamberlain, while a Tory, is supporting Premier Lloyd George, a Liberal.

There was a cry og "Judas" as Lord Birkenhead, the lord chancellor, another supporter of the premier, entered the club.

A full meeting of the national conservative organization will be held next week. This includes leaders of the Tory party who are not members of parliament. The meeting may attempt to overthrow the action taken today.

Before entering the Carlton Club meeting Mr. Chamberlain told friends he was confident he would obtain a majority. He said, however, that he would make a speech informing the Unionists that unless he got a majority vote the following Tory members of the government would resign:

Lord Birkenhead, Sir Robert Horne, Earl Balfour. Sir Laming Worthington Evans, and himself.

Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill's name was omitted for some reason or other.

Mr. Churchill was not able to attend the meeting as he is in a hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

In the event of dissolution of parliament Premier Lloyd George and Mr. Chambelain have agreed to go before the country as epresentatives of separate parties, Tory and Liberal, but with the understanding that a working agreement will be reached after the election.

Several members of the unionist party who had not received invitations to today's meeting attempted to gain entrance but were ejected.

PROGRESS OF EDUCATION, ATHLETICS AND NEW ATTENDANCE LAW ACCOUNTS FOR LARGE GAIN IN XENIA HIGH SCHOOLS

Twenty years ago there were 230 high school students in Xenia.

This number was represented in 181 pupils at Central High School and 49 at East High School. There was no Parochial high school at the time.

Enrollment figures, now show that there are about 560 high school students in the city. Of these, 425 are enrolled at Central High School and 108 at Eat High, St. Brigids Parochial High School enrollment making up th difference.

These figures show that about two and one-half high school students now blossom where but one grew before. To the uninitiated it might mean a rapid and extensive growth in population for Xenia, greatly increasing the number of students of high school age. The elect know differently.

For while Xenia's population has grown only in a small measure over that of 1902, the high school enrollment has increased two and one-half times since that year, and some explanation besides increased population has to be the answer. Superintendent of Schools C. A. Waltz gives the reasons in this way:

New attendance law, which requires attendance from six to 18 years of age, except by special permit to quit at 16, and which keeps pupils in school practically through all four years of high school work.

Increased curricula which have enabled the schools to offer the more interesting and practical subjects to youths, and has resulted in a stronger appeal to many, who would otherwise have quit school;

Transportation Better

Better transportation facilities which have inspired an influx of students from rural districts and from greater distances, coupled with the fact that the city schools are drawing from a greater area now;

A natural trend toward more and better education which eliminates the old idea that a grammar school education was sufficient and has impressed upon boys and girls that they must at least go through high school.

Better and organized athletics, which have a powerful appeal for some youngsters and serve in many cases to furnish the interest that keeps them in school longer;

Inauguration of the Catholic High School, which has served to draw many pupils into higher grades of the Catholic School, who would otherwise have quit at the eighth grade.

The new attendance law, according to Supt. Waltz, is exerting a big influence, and it keeps almost a constant attendance in high school classes once it has forced the student into high school. Stundents cannot resign their studies for "jobs" as easily as formerly.

The increases in the curricula have also served to create more interest in school work among many pupils. These are students, who found little to interest them in the straight academic subjects and were under the belief that since they would not attend college, that they would glean little good from them. They are now given more practical subjects as optional courses and their interest in school work is kept up.

Better Education

That there is a natural trend toward better education is evident. Its causes are numerous. There are the greater possibilities offered in College now, especially for the student who must needs work his or her way through; the fact that employers often require students to at least have a high school education, and the results of education's missionary workers who have convinced youths that they would be better fitted for better positions with more education.

While athletics offer the boy and girl physical training that is essential to their health, athletics also serve their purpose in keeping the youth in school. The youth, at the callow age when he thinks he would be better off getting a job and quitting school, is sometimes kept earnestly at his studies, in which he must maintain a certain grade each week, because he plays or has an especial interest in some sort of sport. A few years later he is grateful for the interest that practically forced him to obtain a better education.

There are more children coming from the country to Xenia's high school according to Supt. Waltz. This is partly caused by the belief in the greater possibilities of the larger high school, and partly because the automobile has offered a better mode of transportation so that they can come from longer distances more commodiously, and gives the city high school a greater area to draw from.

The increase in attendance of Central High School over last year was 55, according to the Superintendent, and the prowess attained by the school in athletics last year is partly responsible for this influx. Next year the new high chool with its increased curriculum will be another drawing power, it is thought while the Parochial High School is also showing a gradually increasing attendance.

Supplementing remarks made by Principal Harper C. Pendry of Central High several weeks ago, Supt. Waltz said that Xenia now has a greater percentage of boys and girls of school age in school than practically ny other city, figured proportionately a fact of which local educators are proud.

SERIOUS BLADDER TROUBLE

"Could not stand nor sit and was forced to cry out from intense pain," writes Henry Williams, Tarkio, Montana. "The doctors said I had inflamation of the bladder and an operation was necessary. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and improved at once. Tell all my friends about Foley Kidney Pills as it will save many from suffering and perhaps as in my case, a dangerous operation." Bladder and kidney trouble demand prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief. Sayre & Hemphill.

COLLEGE ROMANCE ENDS AS BOTH SEEK DIVORCE

Cincinnati, Oct. 19.—A romance that budded at the Ohio State University and ceached its climax in an elopement to Newport, Ky., on June 19, 1917, had "finis" written below it yesterday when Judge Charles W. Hoffman divorced Mrs. vamar Alkire Kogi, 27, of Newport and George Kogi, 29, whlo is now living in Singapore, Chin. A letter from Kogi tellig his wife that separation was the only course open to them in order to escape the scorn and ridicule of both racge, was largely instrumental in gaining the decree. Kogi said that he ws uable to support his wife. The latter had filed suit for divorce last May and was told by the judge that if he would get a letter from her husband saying that he wanted a divorce the decree woull be granted.

DOCTOR ORDERED WOMAN OBEYED

Took Lydia E.Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and is Now Well

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous it kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."—Mrs. ADRITH TOMSHECK, 10557 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomsheck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well-known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomsheck's experience should guide you towards health.

FLETCHER-OSTERLE NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED

At eight o'clock Thursday morning at St. Brigid's Church, the marriage of Miss Margaret Fletcher, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M Fletcher, to Mr. William H. Osterle was solemnized with a nuptial high mass, the Rev. Edward MacGinty, of Jamestown officiating.

Forty invited guests filled the pews of the church for the ceremony, the entrance of the bridal party being marked with the Lohengrin wedding march, the bridal party taking their places at the altar for the ceremony.

Miss Helen Kuntz, of Dayton, attended the bride as bride's maid, while the bride's brother, Mr. Luke Fletcher, acted as best man.

White crepe chiffon, fashioned simply with draperies, was chosen by Miss Fletcher for her bridal gown. She wore a veil of tulle caught in her hair with orange blossams, which fell touching the floor. Pink roses, in a shower arrangement formed her bouquet.

Miss Kuntz wore green chiffon with tiny corsages of vari-colored flowers about the blouse, with long draperies. She carried pink roses.

Ferns, palms and other potted plants formed a bower of the altar where the marriage vows were solemnized.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bridal party and the invited guests, were served a wedding breakfast at the Fletcher home on West Second street. A large white wedding cake, centered the table at which the bridal party and a few guests were seated. A large crystal basket of roses was placed at each end of the table, dainty place cards carrying out the charming color scheme of pink and green, predominating throughout. Covers were laid at the bride's table, for Mr. and Mrs Osterle, Miss Helen Kuntz, Mr. Luke Fletcher, Mr. James Fletcher, Miss Edna Fletcher, Miss Nelle Fletcher, Miss Elsie Grottendick, Miss Charlotte Farrell, and Miss Udith Osterle

The other guests were seated at small tables arranged throughout the rooms of the Fletcher home.

Mr. and Mrs. Osterle left Thursday morning by motor for their wedding trip and will return to make their home in Dayton, at the Cornelia Apartments. Mrs. Osterle's traveling suit was of dark blue veldeen with a black fox collar, and she wore a black hat. Preceding their departure Mrs. Osterle tossed her bride's bouquet, which was caught by one of the guests.

Mrs. Osterle's marriage has been one of the most interesting weddings of the season, and has been the occasion of many delightful parties given by her group of friends, in her honor. She is a graduate of Mount St. Joseph's of the Ohio, at Cincinnati, and is one of the most accomplished of local musicians. She is affiliated with the Xenia Women's Music Club, and is popular in a large circle of friends.

Mr. Osterle came to this city over a year ago from California, and is a graduate of the Santa Clara University of that state, taking a course in electrical engineering at which he is now employed, being connected with the Charles M. Kelso Company at Dayton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kelly and family of the Springfield pike, are planning to move within the next few weeks, to this city, where they will occupy the apartments now held by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Alman, who are leaving soon for their new home in Columbus, Kansas. The Kelly farm will be leased during Mr. and Mrs. Kelly's residence in this city.

Dr. W. A. Galloway left Wednesday night for Philadelphia, Pennsylvania where he will spend two weeks, and will be in attendance at the convention of railroad surgeons, held in that city.

Mrs. Ralph Quinn, and daughter Mrs. Orville Carson, of Cincinnati who has been spending the past week at the home of her parents, were called to McArthur, Ohio Tuesday evening on account of the death of Mrs. Carson's cousin, Mr. Kent Murphy.

Mrs. Harold C. Messenger returned Wednesday to this city from New York, where she spent two weeks with Dr. Messenger. Her husband will remain for another month in the east, while taking a post-graduate course in diseases of children, at a New York hospital.

MAKES THE DEAF HEAR

Remarkable Invention Enables the Deaf to Hear All Sounds Clearly.

Every one who is troubled with deafness in any form will be interested in the announcement of the Dicto graph Products Corporation, Suite 1332, No. 220 West 42nd Street, New York, that they have at least perfected a device which will enable every one whose auditory nerve is not entirely destroyed to hear as perfectly as one whose hearing is normal. To test it thoroughly they sent it to a number of people who had been deaf for years and they report the most gratifying results. Many state that they hear the slightest sound with perfect ease, and that their natural hearing has been greatly improved.

The manufacturers are so proud of their achievement and so confident that every deaf person will be amazed and elighted with it, that they offer to send it to any one by prepaid parcel post on ten days' free trial. They do not ship C. O. D. but send it entirely at their own risk and expense, allowing the user ten full days to try it and decide whether they want to keep it or not. As there is no obligation whatever, every one who is troubled with deafness in any form should take advantage of this liberal free trial offer. Just send them your name and address for descriptive literature and free trial request blank.---Adv.

SEVEN PLAYERS OF XENIA TAKE PART IN FIDDLER'S MATCH

Seven Xenia players will appear on the program of the Old-Time Fiddlers contest, to be staged at the Memorial Hall, Dayton, Friday evening. They are: Howard Core, Robert Shanks, B. F. Chittum, Harry Dice and Frank Bird, George Jeffers, and a second player whose name was not known.

There will be about twenty-five of these old time fiddlers that will take part in the program and will play nothing but old time music such as Turkey in the Straw, Fisher's Horn Pipe, Money Musk, Arkansas Traveller, The Girl I Left Behind Me, Virginia Reel, etc. Jazz music is absolutely forbidden. The ages of the men range from seventy-five years to eighty-six years.

PULPIT TO PLAY PART OF LEADERSHIP OF WORLD IN FUTURE DECLARES SPEAKER AT WORLD MOVEMENT INSTITUTE

The keynote of the work of the New World Movement of the United Presbyterian Church, was sounded by Dr. A. W. Jamieson, D. D., of this city, superintendent of Missions of the Second Synod, at the New World Movement Institute held at the First United Presbyterian Church this city Wednesday.

Dr. Jamieson was one of several prominent speakers who appeared at the meeting, the program of the two sessions, including addresses by the Rev. A. G. Hastings, Dr. C. P. Proudfit, the Rev. S. R. Jamieson, Dr. John Cotton, Secretary Scoullor and Dr. McGranahan, all worth-while speakers in the church movement. Over two hundred people attended the two sessions of the meeting.

"The condition of the world today is one of maximum plasticity," stated Dr. Jamieson in his stirring address. "Helplessly all nations are turning towards America for leadership. Gone is the day of mere financial leadership, mental leadership is only a half way expedient. The power which is going to budge the next age is a spiritual one. Great business men are confessing this and the ministry wields a throne of power to the young man looking for a place where life's influence will be outstanding," were among his remarks.

The subject of Dr. Jamieson's address was "New World Movement Ideals and Achievements," and was the climax of the series of three addresses on "The Three Great Needs of Today" by the Rev. A. G. Hastings, who spoke on "Intercession" the Rev. C. P. Proudfit, on "Life Dedication, the Ministry," and the Rev. S. R. Jamieson, on "Stewardship." All three speakers made a plea for the three great needs" the Rev. C. P. Proudfit speaking as a representative of the Board of Education of the United Presbyterian denomination and also the General Assembly's Committee on Recruiting young men of the Ministry.

The question and importance of ministerial relief was presented in the address of Secretary Scoullor, who followed two talks on "The Freeman's Work" presented by Secretary McGranahan and Dr. John Cotton. Dr. Cotton is president of the Henderson Mission at Henderson North Carolina, and he spoke from his experiences among the Negroes of the south. Both addresses concerned the trend of the colored race to advancement.

A post luncheon conference on the New World Movement work, was held after the supper hour at five thirty o'clock, when all the problems of the work were discussed, and short addresses given by the various leaders.

The film "Soldiers of the Cross" a plea for ministerial relief, which was to be a feature of the evening session could not be shown, owing to the machine not being in working order. The evening program included a splendid address by Dr. Cotton, on "The Freedmen's Work," when he advanced the progress of the colored race to his second audience.

Music during the two sessions was furnished by colored musicians from Knoxville College who held up their standard set with Xenia audiences last winter.

HOME MADE TOILET WATER

Use any essence desired, oil or lavender of rose for instance. About 25 drops will perfume five pints of water. Into each one or two half gallon jars put a funnel lined with filter papef with a bunch of cotton at the bottom. On top of this cotton put some finely powdered magnesia over which has been poured the perfume essence. It should be divided and half the quantity put into each jar. Pour into each jar some rainwater or ordinary boiled water. This will filter through the cotton, paper and magnesia and make a soft toilet water with a delightful fragrance.

JASMINE TOILET WATER

To make a gallon, take a quart of spirits of cologne and put it into a gallon jug. Add half an ounce of oil of jasmine. Let stand two weeks. Fill with the best alcohol and let it stand two weeks or more.

LAVENDER TOILET WATER

Steep handful of lavender flowers in white wine vinegar, keeping the jar in a warm place on the back of the stove for three days, after which strain and bottle.

SOAP JELLY FOR SHAMPOO

Make a jelly by dissolving a large cake of green castile soap or any pure soap in a quart of boiling water. This will keep and can be used from time to time. Wet the hair with warm water, take two tablespoonfuls of the jelly with a little soda if desired and rub thoroughly into the hair and well into the scalp. Rinse well, using colder and colder water, and dry in the open air if possible.

SHAMPOO FOR WHITE HAIR

Four ounces of white castile soap dissolved in one pint of boiling water. Cool and keep in glass. When ready to use beat the white of an egg into as much soap as you need to use at one time. Rub into the scalp well before using any water, rinse in several waters and to the last water add a drop or two or bluing. Borax, soda or ammonia should be avoided by white haired women as they give an undesirable yellow tinge.

CALLOUSES

Apply petroleum jelly (vaseline) once a day for two or three days, then soak feet in hot water with a little mustard and salt added to it. Do not cut the callous but rub off the hard skin with a rough towel or pumice stone. Equal parts carbolic acid and glycerine applied persistently is excellent for calloused feet. Rubbing the soles of the feet at night with glycerine is helpful. When feet are inflamed and hot, wrap in folds of cotton cloth wrung out of cold salt water and over this put flannel.

TO FILL IN A HOLLOW NECK

face directly front, drop head forward till chin rests on chest and then move to the left, back and right, in a rotary motion, never jerking the head but bending it in all directions as far as possible. Five minutes a day spent in this way will do wonders.

A MUSTARD BATH

is unusually refreshing. One tablespoonful dry mustard in a bathtub of warm water will rest tired and aching muscles and leave a pleasant glow.

FUNDERBURGH CASE WILL BE GIVEN HEARING MONDAY

Hearing of the motions to quash the nine indictments returned by the last Grand Jury against Sheriff L. Funderburgh, Deputies Joe Day and Wm. Burns and Patrolman Charles Simms in connection with the death of Volney Nichols, September 5, has been assigned for Monday, October 23.

Monday is also the usual "motion day" in Common Pleas Court Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy will hear the motions, although it is believed that only one motion will be argued upon, as they are practically all alike. Attorneys for both the defendants and the state will present witnesses to bear out their arguments before the court, and it is understood that 25 or 30 witnesses have been subpoenied by the defense counsel.

Twelve motions to quash the indictments were brought a week ago by the defense attorneys. The four officers were jointly indicted for second degree murder and each separately indicted for shooting with intent to kill and shooting with intent to wound. The motions to have indictments suashed claimed that Attorney C. L. Darlington, appointed special assistant counsel for Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson by the Court had no legal right to be present in the Grand Jury room during the investigation of the cases. The State will contend that the special counsel had authority to be in the Grand Jury.

It is believed that no matter whether the motions will be overruled or sustained and the indictments quashed that the losing side will carry the case to the Court of Appeals and eventually to the State Supreme Court. In the event the motions are finally sustained and the indictments quashed, a new Grand Jury will be called to re-consider the cases, it is said.

TICKET SALE GOOD

Members of Aldora Chapter No. 263 Order of the Eastern Star, are pleased with the progress of the ticket sale for "A Dream of Queen Esther" which is being presented by the lodge at the City Hall Theater, Thursday and Friday nights.

Members of the order hope to swell the sale of the tickets with out of town patrons, from Dayton, Springfield and other lodges of neighboring cities, on both evenings of the performance.

Jobe

Dressy Coats

Made on Sumptuous Lines

$39.75 to $60.00

Conforming to the new dignity attained by Fall and Winter styles the Coats for winter wear are made of lustrous, deep pile materials with a soft velvety finish, and are cut on lines at once graceful and distinguished. The lavish use of handsome furs is an outstanding feature of the mode of the season, while rich embroideries, heavy silk tassels and novel fastenings give endless variety in finish.

Leading in popularity in materials, furs and colors are

LUSTRELLAS	CARACUL	HINDU
NORMANDIES	WOLF	HAWAIIAN
VELCUNAS	SQUIRREL	NUBIAN

Long waisted effects suggest the Russian style influence in the new side closing. Softly bloused models are engagingly smart on slim, selvte figures, while loose, flaring backs are welcomed by women of larger figure.

The almost bewildering variety in models, each an exposition of some new style feature, gives wide range of choice.

$39.75 to $60.00

COATS AND DRESSES
For Women Above Regular Size
$19.75 to $75.00

Women of stately proportions will be delighted with our handsome assortment of coats in the larger sizes. All the new, rich pile fabrics are included, also wool velour and polo cloth. They come in smart self, or fur trimmed models.

$19.75 to $75.00

Not one whit of smartness is sacrificed to produce the slendering effects noticeable in the gowns of all-wool or Canton Crepe that come in an interesting assortment of beautiful models. Trimmings all deftly adapted to larger figures. Sizes to 48½.

$19.75, $25.00 and Up

HANDSOME HATS FOR DRESSY OCCASIONS
$8.50 to $20.00

As the season advances the influence of gleaming metallic cloth and brocade upon millinery fashions becomes more pronounced. They face broad brims, flaunt their brightness on upturned brims or form whole crowns for velvet hats. They are effectively used on all-black hats or the colored velvets.

The odd and striking use of monkey fur is another style innovation. Glycerined ostrich tips, burnt goose feathers, rich hued velvet flowers or soft swirling rosettes of velvet or metal cloth are all found as trimmings on the handsome dress hats of velvet, in all black or colors, to be found in our millinery department.

$8.50 to $20.00

OUTER WRAPS FOR WINSOME LITTLE PEOPLE
$5.00 to $15.00

This winter the winsome wee girl will step proudly forth in a warm little coat of Polo Cloth or Broadcloth with a smart wrappy collar or a soft fur collar. They come in sizes 2 to 6 years. Priced

$5.00 to $8.50

THE SMALL BOYS' COATS

Top coats for small boys are mannish little models in cheviot or chinchilla that make the lad of from three to six years look every inch a grown-up. Priced

$5.00 to $6.75

COATS FOR THE OLDER GIRL

These coats have all the style of older sister's coats combined with charming youthfulness. They have fringed trimmed throw collars or collars of beaverette and come in long waisted or loose back models. Sizes 7 to 14 years. Priced

$7.50 to $15.00

LET US GET BACK TO FIRM GROUND AGAIN.

The truth is that the Republican party is pursuing a consistent course as the great conservative but progressive party of the land; that it does not yield to radicalism. It is also the truth that the Democratic organization is gradually becoming imbued with radical principles. It is reaching out for the support of agitators and mischief-makers and the discontented. This is steadily perceived in the make-up of the platforms that are appearing in various states for use in the Congressional elections. The country has been passing through troublous times. Most of the departures from the sane and safe policies which have made of us a great nation were inaugurated during the Wilson administration. The crying need of the day is to get back to firm ground once more and stand there. This is precisely what the Harding administration is attempting to do, and will succeed in doing unless the country is insane enough to send a Democratic House to Washington.

COCA COLA HAS PROVEN A BONANZA FOR THE CANDLER FAMILY OF ATLANTA.

Thomas K. Glenn, member of the organizing committee, has announced that a holding company had been formed to retain control of the Coca Cola Company, a $25,000,000 Atlanta corporation. The new company will be composed of representatives of Southern interests controlling more than 250,000 of the 500,000 shares of the company's stock.

Stock will be exchanged for the voting trust certificates held by the Coca Cola stockholders on an even basis.

The original Coca Cola Company, founded by Asa G. Candler, Sr., and members of his family, was purchased in August, 1919, of which the Candler family received about $15,000,000 cash, taking for the remainder the entire issue of preferred stock, valued at $10,000,000. The purchaser organized the Coca Cola Company of Delaware, and immediately issued 500,000 shares of common stock, but no additional preferred stock has ever been issued.

A few days ago the entire issue of preferred stock was listed on the New York Stock Exchange, a move regarded in financial circles as intention of the Candler interests to dispose of their holdings in the Coca Cola Company of Delaware.

GOLD GETTING SO PLENTIFUL WE'LL BE THROWING IT AT BIRDS.

The mining districts of Northern Ontario, which are expected to set up another record this year in gold production, are receiving a great deal of attention from Americans because of the widespread interest in the famous Hollinger gold mine. This mine, which is located in the Porcupine district, was discovered in 1909 by a youth called Hollinger, who was grubstaked to the extent of $50, the man who grubstaked him having sold for $55 a half interest in whatever Hollinger might find. So profitable has the mine become that the original incorporators of the company, who hold 70 per cent of the stock, are now drawing dividends at the rate of $6,000 a day. Naturally such a return from an investment a quarter interest in which was secured for $55, attracts much attention.

It is well worth nothing that the Hollinger mine has paid dividends amounting to about $14,000,000 or an amount equal to 750 per cent on its original paid-up capital. General Manager Brigham, an American mining expert, has said that the mine will produce $150,000 for every foot of depth, and this valuation is expected to extend for a depth of at least 3000 feet.

Attracted doubtless by the richness of Hollinger important American interests have united to exploit thoroughly the gold bearing possibilities of the Kirkland Lake field. They are putting millions into the venture, the purpose being to carry on investigation and development work, which if done according to the methods of the old prospectors, would take many, many years. And this is only one example of the new developments that are taking place.

COME AND SEE THE BIRDS.

Plans have been about completed by the Rotary Club for the feeding of thousands of wild birds on Daytona, Florida's, water front the coming winter. At a certain hour each morning a bugle blast will notify the birds that feeding time is at hand, and thousands upon thousands are expected to respond to the summons.

The bird feeding plan is the outcome of a suggestion made by George Shiras III, the well known naturalist, at a Rotary meeting last winter, he declaring that the birds could be made an attraction that would draw attention throughout the world.

Tourists in the past have found much amusement in tossing bread to the gulls and ducks along the river front and many of these wild fowl became so tame they would eat out of the hand. It is believed that regular feeding will increase the number of birds by many thousands and the variety by several fold.

At heart every human being is a bird lover and if the regular feeding in Daytona proves as successful as is predicted it will prove a drawing card to the city and ere long they will be inviting tourists to "Come to Daytona and see the birds."

IF IT WASN'T FOR THAT OVERCOAT HE CERTAINLY WOULD FEEL THE COLD THROUGH.

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

The Xenia High School foot ball team again covered itself with glory by defeating the Wilmington College team on Saturday. This is the fourth victory for the Xenia boys, the score being 11 to 0. The line up: X. H. S., J. Adair re, Kelly rt, Johns rg, Wagner c, Miller lg, C. Adair lt, Gordon capt, le, Landaker qb, Hayes, lh, McMickeal, rh, Collins, full.

Chestnut Street is having a building boom and four new houses are soon to be erected on that street. Foundations for Messrs. George Davis, the brick mason, Hedges, Johnson and Deacon are already laid.

The "opening" of Drake and Sutton's new piano store on Green Street on Saturday night was very successful. Some fine music was rendered by the proprietors and the room was crowded.

The following statistics will be of interest in connection with the report of the managers of the Xenia Library: Number of volumes in library, 8,530; number of card holders, 2,485; numbers of readers of books and periodicals in room, 4,783. The statistics given show the growth of the number of books and the number of readers in the past year.

BEAUTY CHATS

HOME MADE WATER WAVES

The woman who has had her hair permanently waved will be told that every time it is shampooed afterward she should have what is called a water wave. As these cost two to three times the price of an ordinary shampoo and as they are almost too difficult to do by oneself, the woman will probably decide the upkeep on permanently waved hair is so great that, considered in with its initial expense she cannot afford to repeat her first experiment.

It is possible to give yourself a water wave at home ,though it is not particularly easy, and you may not succeed as well as a professional. If you happen to be one of those fortunate beings who possess a drying machine at home it is much easier, although sitting in front of a hot stove or fire or outdoors in the hot sun wil do very well.

Shampoo your hair as usual, taking the usual care to rinse out all soap. Roll the towel around the head and wring out the hair in it. Do not dry further with the towel but part it as you do when you dress it, or comb it back from the face. Next take a comb and form the hair into waves. This is difficult until you are used to it. Hold the waves in place by pinning them with invisible hairpins, or bind the head round and round with a narrow ribbon, pulling the hair loose between the bindings with the comb.

Put in side combs so the weight of the hair will not pull the waves out of place. Pin a hair net over the head and keep it on while the hair dries. When it is dry the waves will be very solidly in place and should last for a long time—if the hair has been permanently waved until the next shampooing.

Eighteen—If your skin becomes lifeless toward the end of the day it is because you are tired. Many nervous temperments affect one thus, and a warm bath and a few moments of complete relaxation will bring the color back to the face. If this is not possible, merely bathe the face, throat and hands with hot water, followed by a cooler and finally very cold water.

Then make a change of stockings and shoes, taking an extra minute to rub the soles of the feet to improve the circulation in them.

Downhearted—These little lines in your skin are not serious at your age as they merely denote that you need to be built up. Massage some cream into your skin and increase your weight by drinking more milk.

Ruth—At 16 years of age, with a height of 5 ft., 6 ins., you are not underweight at 112 pounds. It is quite possible that you have attained your height and will now develop in other ways.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

Rippling Rhymes by Walt Mason

CONTENTED WORKMAN.

"I like the work I'm doing," said Charles Augustus Oats; "I toil the year round gluing false whiskers on toy goats. Some men who work beside me are groaning every day; they lecture me and chide me for being blithe and gay. They rear in frequent rages and say we suffer wrong; we ought to have more wages, our hours are much too long. But when I look around me, and view the jobless jays whose suffering astound me, a thankful song I raise. A hundred thousand fellows are seeking work in vain, while autumn herbage yellows, and bitter winds complain. In bleak and dismal garrets poor men and women rage, and cry aloud for carrots, their hunger to assuage. To occupations higher a man might surely win, for nutty is the buyer of little goats of tin; but as I toil I'm humming, no grief my soul annoys, for Christmas time is coming, when children like their toys. The little whiskered billy gives then some small delight; and so I don't feel silly while working day and night. I am profoundly grateful, my little tasks don't irk; I think complaining hateful when thousands seek for work."

Today's Talk by George Matthew Adams

SENTIMENT

I was talking with a kindly old gentleman the other day and the talk drifted to religion. My friend had friend had given a few of his ideas given a few of his ideas when he apologized for being sentimental."

"Now I don't want to be considered sentimental," he said.

I have noticed that so many people express the desire to sidestep sentiment. I wonder why?

I am rather proud of the fact that I often get setimental. For I feel warmer in heart and stronger in spirit at such times.

I am wondering what kind of a world this would be without sentiment. Would you like to live in it?

All Nature is a picture of sentimentment—every minute a change of beauty.

Every once in a while I read of some man who has just died leaving vast wealth. And into the story of his life creeps this statement: "He was a man of sentiment." But show me his sort of human being and I will show you one who has lived for himself alone.

Sentiment is nothing to be afraid of, or to fear.

It would be kind to compare a man without sentiment to the experience of eating a cold breakfast of bread and potatoes—alone!

Sentiment has been the thing that has kept the home fires burning throughout the ages.

Sentiment stimulates every faculty of the body, keeps washing the soul and makes wrinkles, hidden in smiles, glorious and immortal.

I am speaking only of that sentiment which is simple serious and sincere.

The war makers appreciate the psychology of sentiment when applied to working up enthusiasm for war. But when the grim business of war itself sets in, there is no appeal to sentiment.

Be glad that you are susceptible to sentiment. Try to cultivate it rather than seek to suppress it.

LEGION HUNTING GAME FOR SUNDAY

With the announcement that the Western Carrolton Tritons will not be able to play the American Legion football team here until October 29, Manager Shaffer of the ex-soldiers' combination is making strenuous efforts to insure a game for the coming Sunday.

Under the belief that a game would be booked the Legion athletes have been practicing hard this weep in an attempt to hit their lost stride. While the line this fall has been practically up to the standard set by other successful years, the backfield has been the worst drawback as the gridders are having trouble in getting the old material out.

An effort is now being made to have Coach Earl Burgner of Central High School give the Legion team some coaching attention this week and if he consents to mentor the squad in the evenings once in a while, it is believed that another championship team can be rounded into shape.

There will be an important practice of the team Friday evening at the Washington Street Park, and the following players are asked to be present: Burgner, Buck Fuller, Barnett, Frank and William Leahey Allen and Fred Borton Owens C. Hoag Crouse, Horen, Houk Harner, H. Walker, Baker, Tullis, Thomas McCoy, Shroades, Derrick, Fisher, Wilson Pritchard, Stephens, Jenkins, Milburn and Whittington. New athletes wishing a trial with the Legion eleven are also asked to be present.

RADIO FEATURE OF OHIO OSTEOPATHIC CONVENTION

Dr. J. A. Yoder, local osteopath looking forward to the annual meeting of The Ohio Osteopathic Society at Dayton, on October 25 and 26. There is to be a novelty in connection with the meeting which will appeal to everyone in Ohio who has a radio outfit.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 25. Dr. George W. Goode, of Boston, President of the American Osteopathic Association will send from one of the three broadcasting stations in Dayton his address on "Physical Fitness." Delegates to the convention will hear the message at their convention hall several squares away, while owners of radio sets in all parts of the state can enjoy it by tuning in for Station W. F. O., Dayton, promptly at 7:30 p. m.

This convention will be the greatest gathering of Osteopaths in the history of the state organization, and the program is expected to prove of unusual interest and benefit to the delegates.

Additional Society

D. A. R. CHAPTER ENJOYS LETTERS FROM MEMBERS.

Greetings from far-away members, what they are doing, the life of the city and country in which they live, and the program of the club circles of their cities, were enjoyed by the members of Catherine Greene Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the gathering held at the home of Mrs. R. D. Adair, Wednesday afternoon.

Five letters were read to the members of the chapter from other members who reside in far places of the country. One of the letters was from Mrs. Richard H. Ahlers, of Reno, Nevada, who gave a vivid description of Reno, its beauty, and the lovely country and lakes surrounding the city. The touch of local color, the Indian customs, their dances and other tribal festivities was clearly given by Mrs. Ahlers in her letter which was much enjoyed by the members.

From Vermillion South Dakota came a letter from Mrs. William H. Batson, another member of the local chapter, who greeted the members of the organization in a personal note, thanking them for remembering her in their program. South Dakota "the sunshine state" was true to its name according to Mrs. Batson who told of the beauty of the country, and the work of the Daughters of the American Revolution in that state.

The premier qualities of the State of Illinois, was told in the letter of Mrs. J. F. Patton, of Viola, Illinois, that state according to Mrs. Patton, ranking first in agricultural, and boasting many of the finest colleges and schools in the country. The progress of the state in civic circles was received with interest by the local chapter members.

The lure of the desert and word picture of the settlement of the western city in which she resides, was described in the letter of Mrs. S. E. Harbine, of Tucson, Arizona. Mrs. Harbine, told of the settlement of Tuscon by the Spaniards, who were followed by the Mexicans, who built a wall about the city to protect them from the Indians. The daughters of the American Revolution, of the city are planning to mark the spot where the wall, stood, according to Mrs. Harbine. The abundance of game, the wonderful climate, and the rich mining industries, led settlers to Tuscon, Mrs. Harbine wrote in her letter.

An interesting description of a recent western trip was given in the letter of Mrs. J. D. Herron, of Cambridge, Ohio, who greeted the members of the Xenia D. A. R.

An account of the clubs and organizations, in her city was told by Mrs. Walter H. Kock, of Millersburg, O. The cooperation of the clubs of the city with plans for civic improvement was a source of interest to the members of Catherine Greene Chapter. Mrs. Kock's visits to the D. A. R. Chapter at Cleveland, was also described in her letter.

The program of letters was one of the most interesting on the club calander of the chapter for the year. Mrs. Adair was assisted entertaining the club members by Mrs. Dilver Belden, Miss Hagar and Mrs. Nellie T. Schell.

CHURCH SOCIETY TO WORK AMONG NEEDY CHILDREN

The inauguration of definite work among the needy children of the city was made by the members of the McGervey Sunday School Class of Trinity M. E. Church, at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Henry Norckauer, Monday evening.

The twenty-one members of the society, who attended the meeting responded to the roll call with the presentation of a dollar to the fund to be used for the children, and gave interesting accounts of how they had earned the money. The main work of the society during the year, as outlined and accepted at the meeting, will be among the poor children, a committee being appointed to carry on the work.

Mrs. E. J. Wilkins, chairman, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Roy Hayward, and Mrs. J. J. Sout.

Attractive Halowe'en decorations about the room of the Norckauer home added to the enjoyment of the evening, the business program being followed by an informal social time, and refreshments.

EXPECTANT mothers do not undergo useless suffering any longer, and baby's birth can be made gloriously easier.

Mrs. Wm. Flack, 115 N. 12th St., Leavenworth, Kansas, says: "'Mother's Friend' is the best help in the world for an expectant mother. I am the mother of three children and have found 'Mother's Friend' fine."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied about the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates wonderfully, and in this way allows the muscles and ligaments to relax easily and readjust themselves to the changes during expectancy and at child-birth.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-45, Atlanta, Ga., for free booklet containing valuable information every expectant mother should have.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. There is no substitute. Avoid useless greases and plain oils. Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better. "Mother's Friend" is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

KATHERMAN WLIL SEE LOCAL GRIDDERS PLAY

Jerry L. Katherman, former coach of athletics at Central High School expects to arrive in Xenia Friday in time to see his former football students, the Central High eleven, play Piqua, at the Fairgrounds lot Friday afternoon.

Coach Katherman, who is now coaching the line at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware will be on his way to Cincinnati, where the Methodists meet the University of Cincinnati on the gridiron. According to Katherman the Methodists are crippled with a bunch of injuries and the game with Cincinnati will be the first of their hopes for conference honors this season.

Indomitable Durant

It is said in automotive circles that W. C. Durant accomplishes what he plans; to him difficulties are so many spurs to greater effort, making one get on the faster.

He is the man who made the Buick. He conceived and organized General Motors, including Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oakland and Oldsmobile. Certainly a considerable monument to one man's tireless energy.

But now, when many men would be content to enjoy a well-earned vacation, he is up to the armpits in the business of launching the crowning effort of his career.

It's "just a real good car," Durant says. "If it's good enough for him to christen with his own name, it's good enough for us," said the trade, and in 141 working days after the announcement they contracted for $31,000,000 worth of Durant cars.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF ORGANIZED ROOTING AT SCHOOL CONTESTS, ASKS INQUIRING ONE

What has become of the high school student who used to see that the sidelines gave forth organized cheering during every football game and who inspired proper celebration of a victory on the night after the contest?

Back in the days when victories on the gridiron were few and far between, students exhibited more of what the present generation calls "pep." that the students do now with a team that has only been beaten once in two years. If the student body of Central High School expects to have a fighting and winning football team in the field, it must learn that effective support on the sidelines is the best medicine for a team's morale and puts the old punch into the pastiming.

A few years ago, when wins were a few and far between football games were preceded by parades of students while the football squad was hauled about the city in automobiles, and leather-lunged undergraduates with megaphones made the welkin ring. On the sidelines there was organized cheering from the student body, and the introduction of stunts, such as the girls posing as nurses and bringing forth a spring wagon ambulance on which the "injured" were taken care of.

After the games swarms of boy students would wreck traffic rules, while they promenaded up and down the middle of the thoroughfare singing the high school boy's marching song. There is mute indication now that there are not many students in Central High, who know the marching song or the real Central High School song. Agitation for printing the words in the Central Hi Review and practicing the music after school until all students are familiar with it, has been started in some quarters. It is also suggested that cheer leaders for both boys and girls be appointed and that they be given their numerals or small letter certificates for their accomplishments in stirring up the sidelines.

It is thought that the attendance at games could be increased in this manner and the team would be made to feel it had moral support from the student body, and the old and well-known high school yells resounding over the field would put fight in the players during the games.

Wilmington College opened its home season last Saturday, and girls of the school dressed in white and bearing green and white streamers, staged a parade on the gridiron between halves, singing the College song and forming in a huge "W" as a climax. Last year two high school girls who have since graduated stirred considerable "rooting" from the spectator's section of girls, but the boys were ignored and ignoring. This year there have arisen no cheer leaders to take their places, and there is no organized rooting.

The "big blue" eleven will take the field Friday afternoon against one of the strongest teams it will meet this season—Piqua High—, and side lines support is going to play a big part in making a fighting machine out of coach Earl Burgner's athletes. In spite of the division of the student body into morning and afternoon classes, the sections should be gotten together on this one subject of team support and boys' and girls' rooters clubs organized that would make the gridders feel every minute that they are getting the proper moral support.

LAD IS KILLED; STRUCK BY AUTO

Donald Lyon, aged nine of Dayton R. R. No. 8, Dayton and Xenia pike, died at Miami Valley Hospital Dayton Wednesday afternoon, from injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. John Olt Dayton, near the boy's home.

Mrs. Olt was not held after she had made a statement to Coroner Kimmell of Montgomery County. The accident happened as the boy was leaving school Mrs. Olt said she was driving slowly but that the lad ran out between two machines parked in front of the school house directly in the path of her machine. He did not regain consciousness.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT RESULTS IN BOY'S DEATH ON RANCH

Funeral services for Carroll Lane, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lane, 139 High street, will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the residence and burial will be made at Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call at the home from seven to nine o'clock Thursday evening or from 9:30 to 11 o'clock Friday morning.

Young Lane died last Friday on a ranch near Bell-Fourche, South Dakota, from the effects of a gun shot wound resulting from the accidental discharge of a gun, according to the death certificate that accompanied the body. Members of the family received a letter Wednesday night from Mrs. C. P. Chapney, wife of the coroner and physician who attended the lad, giving first details of the fatal accident.

Carroll had left here in June with Leroy Stephens for an adventure trip through the west, and had been working in the harvest fields. He had been employed at the time of the accident on a ranch twelve miles from Bell-Fourche. Friday the rancher went to town and when he returned found the boy unconscious from the effects of a bullet wound in the center of the forehead. The lad never regained consciousness, and after an inquest death was reported as due to the accidental discharge of a gun.

The body arrived in Xenia Thursday morning and was taken in charge by R. M. Neeld, undertaker, and removed to the Neeld Undertaking Establishment. It will be removed to the home Thursday afternoon. Besides the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lane, there are two sisters, Violet and Catherine and two brothers, Myron and Forest, surviving.

THE CONSTANT PRESENCE.

Ah, sweet it is, when morn is come,
To know that I shall meet your eyes,
And sweet, when birds at dark are dumb,
To hear your voice as stars arise.

For you are never absent, dear;
I see your face in trees, in grass,
In shadows when the dawn is near,
In sunlit clouds that o'er me pass.

And when the night lies on the land,
And all the world is lost in sleep,
I feel the light touch of your hand,
And know you still love's vigil keep.
—Doris Kenyon.

I believe W. J. Bryan is the most courageous man in American public life. He reminds me in a certain way of a prize fighter I once knew out west by the name of Al Kumbak. That is not his real name, but a name he earned. In all his fighting carer Al couldn't seem to whip anybody, but the real point of it was that nobody could whip him so as to make him understand that he was licked. Al was a heavyweight, and he would fight anybody from Jim Jeffries to Tom Sharkey without suffering the slightest stage fright. When a fight card was announced and somebody would fall down they always sent for Al, and he would act as received for all the fancy knockout stuff that any imported fighter could bring to our town. He got to be quite well known, and at last became famous enough to be listed with the heavyweights. Some of the biggest heavyweights in the country visited us and whaled away at Al for an hour or two and quit. Al was never knocked out and, so far as anybody knows, never knocked anybody else out. He would take a beating that would take the hearts out of ten ordinary men and then go to a dance and dance the rest of the night. Al toured all over the country and everybody had a crack at him. A good many whipped him, but Al didn't know it. Finally he came back home and said: "Ah, what's the use? Nobody can lick me. I'm going to quit."

Here the similarity between Al and Bill ends. Bill evidently is never going to quit.

According to the fashion journal for men, that ancient and honorable institution, the coattail, is about to be gathered to its fathers. Together with the plug hat, it is said, coattails will, after this winter season, no longer grace the Apollo Belvideres who strut majestically hither and yon in the corridors of high society.

It is held that coattails represent a clear waste of material, which is very scarce and very valuable. Every time a man orders a coat with a long tail on it he raises the price of clothing for the next bird.

But the new custom will bring about one bit of public information. We will know who are carrying the flasks.

We see by the papers that a prizefighter has gone to Dublin to rest. Dublin is in Ireland, and he has gone there for a rest. Well, there is no accounting for tastes.

Lewisburg, Ohio, Oct. 29, 1921
To Whom it may concern:

This is to certify that I have taken Chiropractic Treatment and Sulphur Vapor Baths from Drs. Harter and Noble, at 28 Pruden Bldg., Fifth and Main Sts., Dayton, Ohio, and have been cured of poor circulation of my blood, which caused a numbness of my right leg, also Kidney trouble which caused such pain and soreness in my back that at times was almost unbearable. I am not troubled with either of these any more and even during my hardest work am unable to feel any pain what ever.

I also wish to state that my wife is also taking these tretments and has received more benefit from them than from any previous treatment she has ever taken. She is feeling much better and is able to do things now which she could not do before. I expect to keep her taking these treatments until she is well and I have all the faith in the world, that they will make her well.

NEW ELECTION IS SOUGHT BY GROUP OF TORIES

London, Oct. 19—(4:30 P. M.)—The Central News circulated a report this afternoon that the Lloyd George coalition government has resigned.

The proposed new ministrial "slate" included:

Andrew Bonar Law as premier.

Lord Curzon as foreign secretary and Stanley Baldwin as chancellor of the exchequer.

All are members of the Unionist party. The conservative members of the cabinet conferred today when the question of resignation was discussed.

The next premier will be a tory, or unionist—the party which stands for imperialism and monarchial rights. It is generally conceded that the new premier will be either A. Bonar Law or Earl Balfour. The former has been out of politics for about a year owing to ill health. Mr. Law is 63 years old. He was chancellor of the exchequer from 1916 to 1919. Throughout 1915 and the first half of 1916 he was secretary of state for the colonies. Before taking up politics he was an iron magnate at Glasgow, Scotland. In 1900 he entered the house of commons and established his reputation with a single speech. He was a staunch advocate of tariff reform and devoted most of his energies to this issue. He succeeded Earl Balfour as leader of the unionist party. After retiring in March, 1921, from the cabinet, he went to France and spent considerable time. His chief recreation is chess.

There is a possibility that the next premier may be a bachelor. Neither Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer nor Earl Balfour is married.

London, Oct. 19.—The Lloyd George coalition government began to go to pieces this evening after the Tory members of parliment had voted in favor of an immediate general election. There were a number of resignations and it was reported that the whole cabinet, including Premier Lloyd George might retire.

Resignations were handed in by the following:

Stanley Baldwin, of the government board of trade.

Sir Arthur Griffith—Boscawen of agriculture and fisheries.

Lieut. Colonel Leopold Amery, parliamentary secretary to the admiralty.

Under Secretary Commander H. D. King.

Under Secretary Lieut. Colonel A. Buckley.

Major Sir J. L. Baird, of the home office and Sir Philip Lloyd Graeme, office.

Premier Lloyd George went to Buckingham Palace at 4:30 to consult with King George. It was understood he carried in his pocket the resignation of the entire cabinet signed by all members including himself.

ATTEND SEASON CONCERT

Mrs. George Moore, Miss Wilgins, Helen Jones, Mrs. Fannie Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Martha Anderson, Miss Hazel Flagg went to Dayton Wednesday night where they were in attendance at the first concrt on the season coursce of the Dayton Civic Music League. A Most Exceptional Display of Furniture

For Better Homes

The world judges a man by what is inside his head, and by what is inside his home! The American standard of living has advanced farther in the past twenty-five years than in the entire previous century. The "Better Homes" ideal today finds expression in every walk of life, and furniture in the finest of period styles is now available at the cost of ordinary home furnishings just a few years back. It will be a pleasure just to see the new styles.

We have always realized there was an earnest desire in the hearts of men and women for a home that truly expressed their personal tastes. Today, with a great store literally brimfull of the newer creations, we are ready as never before to provide them at a moderate cost. No matter what room in the home you wish to furnish, you will find it available in the widest variety of styles at a real saving!

FEAR VATICAN MAY BE ATTACKED

Rome, Oct. 19.—The possibility of an attack upon the vatican if the fascisti make good their threat to march on Rome, seize he city and take over the government wos discussed by church officials today.

The attention of Pope Pius XI was called to the fact that the vatican is defenseless and that the Swiss guords and other household troops are more for ornament than for force. The pontiff, after listening to the dignitaries responded:

"I believe that common sense will prevail. I do not believe that the vatican is in any danger or that it will be placed in any."

IS EXONERATED ON ALL CHARGES

Lima, Oct. 19.—R. R. Trubey, assistant prosecuting attorney of Allen county, as exonerated today of charges of misconduct in office filed against him recently by former Congressman Benjamin F. Welty.

In a stateent submitted to common pleas court, the committee of the Allen county bar association appointed to investigate Welty's accusations, declared there was not sufficient evidence to support charges and recomended that disbarment proceedings instituted against Trubey be dismissed.

MONROE DOCTRINE BUT SCRAP OF PAPER

Cleveland, Oct. 19.—"The Monroe doctrine will be but a useless scrap of paper if the thirty-six peace organiations which have merged forces to abolish the United States navy, have their way, Rear Admiral William S. Sims, retired, told the city club here today. It was has first public address since his retirement from active service last Sunday.

In speaking of the merchant marine the admiral asserted that we must change the conditions under which they operate or else scrap the entire merchant marine. Present legislation, the shipping board and the failure of the public to support policies necessary for its continuance were said to be threatening American ships with extinction.

"The navy, as a fighting unit, is useless without an adequate merchant marine," Admiral Sims said.

SENTENCE "BLIND BOOTLEGGER" TO JAIL

Cincinnati, Oct. 19—Fred Apking Sr., the "blind bootlegger" of Reading, O., convicted for the second time of violating the prohibition laws, was entenced to a year in the Montgomery County Jail in the U. S. Court yeterday. He stood erect and fearless while sentence was being pronounced.

"They'll get no whimper out of me," he said.

He was let off with a small fine for his first offense because of his affliction and the sentence yesterday was only half the limit for second offense. With him were sentenced Fred Apking, Jr., to four months in the Dayton work house and Allis Apking, his brother, to six mnoths at the same place.

ELEVEN INJURED IN BUILDING SMASH

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 19.—Eleven men were injured, five seriously here today when the second floor of the building at 22 West Alabama Street, which is undergoing repairs, caved in. Two of the men are not expected to recover. All the men, workmen engaged in remodelling the building for occupancy by a large department store, were sent to hospitals. The injuries to two of the men, it was predicted will prove fatal. Injuries to three others are serious.

COURT NEWS

FINED IN COURT.

Charles Combs, 316 West Church street was fined $25 and costs by E. D. Smith in Police Court Thursday for possessing three dogs without licenses, which neighbors say are vicious. The fne was later suspended on agreement of the owner to furnish licenses for the dogs and to keep them penned up.

ANGUNS UNDER BAN

Boys using airguns, especially in Spring Hill, drew attention from the Police Department Thursday.

Police had numerous complaints of youths using the air guns promiscuously and of several windows broken by stray shots. The result is the inauguration of a campaign against the air guns and promises of prosecution for the youthful users.

DINNER STORIES

"What became of that glass eater you had with you last year?" asked the visitor to the shide show.

"We had to let him go," replied the manager. "He got so high-toned that he wouldn't eat anything but imported cut glass."

Six - year - old Margaret often played with Nellie, a neighbor's little girl. One rainy day the two were just starting across the clean kitchen floor at Margaret's home when the latter's mother, seeing their muddy shoes, headed them off and sent them out to play on the porch. After a moment Nellie remarked:

"My mother don't care how much I run over the kitchen floor."

There was quite a long interval of silence. Then Margaret said:

"I wish I had a nice, dirty mother like you've got, Nellie."

"Say, Bill, what's dis here per capita circulation of money dat th' papers say is on the increase?"

"Dunno, Steve. But if it's anything to do wit' money you can bet it ain't on the level."

A baby will make love stronger, days shorter, nights longer, bank roll smaller, home happier, clothes shabbier, the past forgotten and the future worth living for.

PLAYGROUND WORK SUBJECT OF TALK AT KIWANIS CLUB

That juvenile delinquency had decreased in one section of Dayton 66 and two thirds per cent subsequent to the establishment of a public playground, was the statement made by Ben Piers, Supervisor of Recreation of the City of Dayton before members of the Xenia Kiwanis Club at their meeting at the Elks' lodge Wednesday.

Mr. Piers, a former Xenian, who at one time was a triple bar acrobat with Ringling Brothers Circus, stressed the importance of municipal playgrounds and recreational facilities for children, under proper supervision, as a means of combatting temptation and of inculcating the principles of fair play and honesty.

"The critical time of the day for many youngsters who are forced to play on the streets in just after supper," said the speaker, "and it is at this time that the playground or recreational center proves its worth as an investment to the community. Instead of roaming the streets and fall[illegible] company, children are kept at healthful play that serves to [illegible] mentally and physically sound."

Mr. Piers quoted statistics showing that 75 per cent of the children in the United States are physically impaired and that 21 per cent of the inhabitants of penal institutions are of juvenile age. The per capita cost of recreational facilities for the youth of the nation, said the speaker is one half cent and in as much as the congested centers are the chief sources of juvenile delinquency, something must be done for the youth of the nation.

The work being carried on in Dayton was shown by Mr. Piers by means of stereopticon slides and motion pictures. The Gem City is making rapid strides in its development of playgrounds and recreational centers, which have proven of great service to the community, said the speaker, who urged that such a movement be started in Xenia with a small muncipal garden.

John R. Beacham, business manager of the city schools, presided at the meeting. Mr. Beacham in commenting on the new Central High School said that upon its completion the city would have a gymnasium as well equipped as any in the state and that it would be available for use of people and organizations of the city.

CHILDREN AIDED AT CLINIC OF RED CROSS THURSDAY

Thirteen children can say they were operated on at the first clinic for the removal of tonsils and adenoids held in Greene County, as the result of the tonsilectomy clinic held by the County Chapter of the American Red Cross, Thursday at the American Legion rooms. The clinic will continue through Friday.

A Legionnaire would scarcely have recognized his club rooms, when the Red Cross workers left the building, Wednesday evening. The office was converted into a miniature operating room, with muslin-covered walls, operating tables, and the odor of formaldehyde and ether.

Dr. Reed Madden and Dr. G. C. McPherson, operated on the thirteen children Thursday morning, assisted by Dr. J. J. Taylor of Yellow Springs, Dr. Hubner of Cedarville, Dr. A. C. Messenger and Dr. C. H. Densen.

Miss Helen Evers, Red Cross nurse in charge of the clinic, was assisted by the following nurses in the operations: Miss Helen Maxey, Miss Katherine Setz, of Cedarville, Miss Kathleen McKeeney, Miss Mary Elam, Mrs. Robert Terrell, and Mrs. Ernest Schmidt.

One mother, a widow with ten children, as anxious to take advantage of the clinic, and brought two children and was glad that there was a Red Cross in Greene County to help her in this way. Another family had two children in the State Deaf School besides two at home, and are raising a child whose parents are dead. They had known for some time that one of the children in the Columbus school had diseased tonsils but were unable to have corrective measures taken. They asked that he might come to the Red Cross clinic. The Red Cross Secretary communicated with the Superintendent of the school at Columbus, asking about the boy's condition. They replied that their physician recommended the operation be performed and the boy arrived home in time for the clinic.

Fifteen children can be accommodated each of the two days at the clinic, according to officials of the Red Cross, two not arriving Thursday. There have been fourteen more applications than could be cared for, officials stated Thursday, their names having been placed on a waiting list for the next clinic.

Red Cross workers stated Thursday that the first clinic has met a great need throughout the county and it is hoped it can be continued several times a year, and in this way make better and healthier citizens out of the children of today.

"The four thousand Red Cross members in Greene County that are hoped to be secured in the Sixth annual roll call drive to be launched soon, next year will help make possible such clinics as this one, and other county-wide work to make our county healthier and happier in 1923 than it was in 1922," said Red Cross Workers, Thursday.

Prison Mother's Child Is Is Adopted.

Mildred O'Dell, whose mother Pearl O'Dell was sentenced to twenty years in Auburn (N. Y.) State Prison for participating in the murder of a man she alleged wronged her, has been adopted by a wealthy woman. Mrs. O'Dell's husband was electrocuted for his part in the murder.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a boy friend who seems to love me when there isn't any other girl around, but at school he does not care for me at all. Please tell me why he does this. MICKY.

Very often when a boy begins to take an interest in a girl or in girls he feels embarrassed and tries to hide the fact from others for fear he will be teased. I presume such is the case with the boy you mention.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman and have two children, school age. My husband is a good provider and is good to me. We have kept my mother for the last twelve years.

She owns property in Wisconsin and gets rent for it, right along. I have quite a few brothers who never give anything toward her support and don't keep her any of the time.

My husband is willing to keep her, but he does think my brothers ought to help too. So far we have not got anything. She helps quite a bit around the house. I think I ought to be entitled to something for having her when I have kept her right along and the rest have done nothing for her.

What would you advise me to do?
ANXIOUS TO KNOW.

Yes inded, your brothers ought to help. Surely each could afford to give you from three to five dollars a month, and with all contributing you would receive enough to relieve your husband of the expense of having your mother. It is quite true that you ought to be thankful to have your mother with you, but at the same time it is only right that your brothers should show their regard for your mother by helping with her support. Write and tell them how you feel about the matter, and doubtless some of them at least will respond to your appeal.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What would you do? Something that you simply loathed to please your parents, or please yourself and try something else.

I think that since I have just found out what the big ambition is in my life I should follow that. If I had known this five years ago, how much easier it would be now.

I am discouraged and don't know what to do because everywhere I turn people scowl at me.
ROSEMARY C.

It is difficult to answer you without knowing more about your case. It seems to me, however, that you should choose for your life work what interests you.

eDar Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of seventeen and in love with a boy of twenty-one. He says that he loves me, too, but I object to his kissing me, and he says that I do not love him on account of that. Please tell me how to act with him so he will believe me.
A READER.

Act as you have been doing. At your age it would not be wise to convince a young man that you love him.

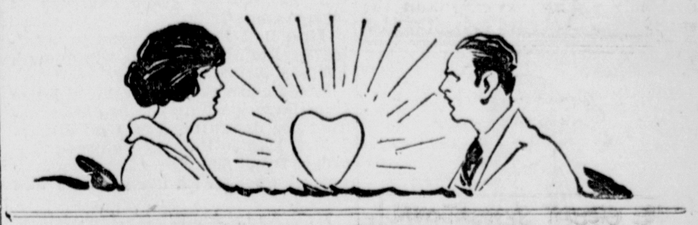
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl twenty-one years old. I am desperately in love with a young man now living in another city and state. We correspond regularly and I want to know if it is proper to have what we call dates with other young men.
BLUE EYES.

If you are not engaged it is all right to have dates with other young men. You should give the young man the same privilege of going with other girls.



MARDI GRAS WILL BE STAGED OCT. 31 AT YELLOW SPRINGS

Residents of Yellow Springs, young and old, are awaiting the annual Mardi Gras, staged each year by the members of the Library Association, on Hallowe'en, October 31.

Masked revelers will throng the streets of the village, patronizing the booths constructed by the members of the Association, where pretty and clever articles will be had for sale Definite arrangements for the affair have not been completed.

POMO GRANGE TO HEAR STATE SPEAKER NEXT WEDNESDAY

Harry Caton, of Fresno Ohio, State Master of Granges, will be the speaker at the all-day session of Pomona Grange to be held with the new Jamestown Grange at Jamestown next Wednesday.

The meeting will open at ten o'clock in the morning, when a large class of candidates will be given the fifth degree. Dinner will be served at noon and in the afternoon there will be a business session at which the annual election of officers will be held.

Mr. Caton, who will speak at the afternoon meeting has been in Grange work for years, and was formerly State Lecturer. He is also Grange editor of the "Stockman and Farmer". County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Aultman, will also address the gathering in the afternoon.

The Xenia Grange Orchestra will furnish music during the day, and all fourth degree Grange members in the county are eligible to attend th meeting. Officers are expecting a good attendance as previous similar meetings have drawn between 300 and 400 grangers.

Styles

BY LENORE

Most women are, of course, grateful for the continuance of straight lines as the prevailing silhouette of the season.

The mode lends itself to such a variety of treatment, and is undoubtedly youthful in effect. In the street dress illustrated today the idea is expressed in the manner of the coat frock with lines that are simple and pleasing.

The material used is taupe colored rep cloth, with bands of the same material joined in open-worked hand-stitching, which gives the gown a touch of individuality. There is just enough width to the skirt to make it comfortable for walking, and the height of the figure may determine the length of the skirt.

BUSINESS BUILT UP THROUGH ADVERTISING

Nearly fifty years ago a little business was started in New York City. Perseverance and pluck, together with a thorough belief in Advertising brought the enterprise up by leaps and bounds. That business is Scott's Emulsion, and the makers will tell you that Advertising did the trick. They believe that the purpose of Advertising is to increase profit from increase in volume of output (which means quick turnover,) rather than big profits and small sales. Their exmple shows the advertier the importance of following a well-planned advertising campaign—and the advertisig department of this paper is maintained for the purpose of giving advice, based on past experience to any local advertiser for the asking.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES CONQUERED OR MONEY BACK

For 46 years, said Dr Carey, I have been prescribing my Prescription No. 777 for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of, it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health. Watch the symtoms. If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffy eyes clammy feet or moist palms, backache or side ache, you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Prescription No. 777 right away.

It has wonderfully benefited tens of thousands of cases of kidney and bladder troubles and is the medicine you can always depend upon. Results are guaranteed.

NOTE—Dr. aDniel G. Carey was a practicing physician for many years and his great Prescription, No. 777 aided thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. Hereafter you can always get this effective Prescription at Sayre & Hemphill's and all reliable pharmacists the country over. Keep in mind the name, Dr. Carey's Prescription No. 777 (Liquid or Tablets.) No other medicine can take its place.

A DAY'S RECIPES.

Strawberry Roll—Sift into bowl two scant cupfuls of flour and add one teaspoon of sugar, three-quarters teaspoon salt and four teaspoons baking powder. Rub in with the finger tips three tablespoons shortening, and when the mixture resembles cornmeal wet to a soft dough with about three-quarters cup of cold milk. Roll out lightly into a thin oblong sheet and cover with hulled strawberries. Sprinkle with sugar, add a bit of grated nutmeg and dot with bits of sugar. Roll up like a jelly roll, lay in a greased pan, and after brushing over with milk bake in a very hot oven. Serve with a hard sauce to which has been added a few spoons of crushed strawberries.

Chicken a la King—Melt four tablespoons of chicken fat and in it cook three tablespoons of minced green pepper until soft; then stir in three tablespoons of flour, one tablespoon of minced canned pimento, three-quarters teaspoon of salt and add very gradually two cups of thin cream or top of the milk. Stir constantly until the sauce thickens and boils and add two and one-half cups chicken (diced) and a quarter of a pound of sauted mushrooms. Stand over hot water until the chicken and mushrooms are heated through.

HOUSECLEANING TRICKS.

Soap, naptha preferred—For coarse boards, heavy kettles.

White laundry soap—For high-grade woodwork, glasses and china.

Scouring compound—For porcelain and windows.

Steel wool—For removing wax from floor before applying new covering for painted or varnished surface.

Floor wax—For floors and furniture.

Kerosene—Outdoors disinfectant, pouring down drains, cleaning enamel sinks, tubs, etc.

Ammonia—For washing windows and linoleum.

Borax—For softening water and washing glassware.

Chloride of lime—Disinfectant for bathroom.

Whiting—For cleaning enameled paint and nickel.

SUGGESTIONS.

To Clean White Kid Gloves—Place them upon the hands, have ready two vessels partly filled with gasoline, one for first cleansing, the other for rinsing. Proceed as if washing the hands, using a small hand brush and ivory soap. When quite clean wipe with a clean towel while still on the hands. Remove and hang in the sun and air. The gloves when dry will be beautifully soft and white.

Daintily Embroidered Bibs for a Baby may be slipped over half of an ordinary dress shield. This, of course, is impervious, so that the child's neck and dress are never dampened nor soiled, and the thin covers are much more easily laundered than thick, quilted bibs. The half shield is exactly the right size and shape, is merely to be bound where cut and may be washed.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

CHAPTER 4

Walter was very sociably inclined so we went a good deal and did out part in entertaining. I enjoyed the social life also, but not quite as he did. He was never willing to have a party break up, always insisting it was only 'the edge of the evening' no mattr how late it was I soon learned not to interfere or to speak of the hour. He told me once at one of Claire's parties that I was a killjoy and Grace Harter agreed with him adding:

"You'll lose your little hubby if you insist upon dragging him home before he's ready. Walt always was the last to leave."

It was her constant repetition of such things that made me learn to dislike her. Yet once when I spoke of it to Walter, he said:

"Grace was always a good sport. I like it in a woman. You can sleep as late as you like in the morning so what's the use rushing home when I'm having a good time?" Then he added: "She looked stunning! Always did know what she could wear. I wish you were a little more original, more artistic in your dress. You look just like nine out of ten women one sees."

"I'm sorry I didn't look nice, Walter That was a new dress and an expensive one."

"Expense be hanged! I have a model who can wear a piece of calico and look smart and different."

I wasn't artistic and knew it. But it hurt me just the same to have him compare me with his models to my disadvantage. Someway Walter often hurt me, yet I knew without intention. If I showed I was hurt he would be sorry, perhaps plan an outing or something. But after the first few weeks he never apologized in words. He hated to admit he had been wrong.

But his lovable qualities so far out numbered the unlovable ones that I loved him more intensely after we had been married a year than when I was a bride His merry spirit was infectious—he was just a big overgrown boy

Father and Mother had spent a few days at holiday time with us and had had a royal time Walter really neglected his beloved work to entertain them. But as yet I had met none of his relatives, although I had received a stilted letter of welcome as her son's wife from his mother. After reading the letter I made up my mind I wouldn't like her. I asked Walter to describe her and tell me all about her.

"She's very dignified, Doreen, but she's got a good heart. She isn't very well, some heart affection, and it makes her a bit hard to get along with at times—that is, it would if one didn't know and love her. She thinks the sun rises and sets in me—don't know as I blame her," he added teasingly.

"I thought her letter rather cold," I explained.

"No, I don't think so. It's the Mater all over. No fuss or saying more than she means. I hope she will come East soon so you can get acquainted."

I made no reply, but I sincerely hoped she would not come East. After that cold formal letter I had no desire to get acquainted with my mother in law.

We were taking what I to myself called one of "Walter's apology outings" We had spent Saturday afternoon up the Hudson, and were on our way home. I noticed a tall graceful blonde sitting opposite us in the Pullman, but was wholly unprepared for Walter's whispered:

"Isn't she a beauty?"

"Who?" I asked.

"That girl opposite the blonde. Gad, but I'd like to have her for a model. Wonder who she is?"

I glanced at the girl and knew from her expression, her veiled glances at us that she knew she was our subject of conversation.

"Look at that foot and ankle!" Walter said in a low tone. "Perfect!" Said foot and ankle, and considerably more, were displayed generously as she crossed her feet on the cushion.

"She evidently thinks so," I replied.

"I must find out who she is." He paid no attention to my sarcasm, but continued staring.

As we went out of the train the blonde was directly in front of us. After we passed through the gate I missed Walter, but in a moment he came running back.

"I heard her give the taxie driver her address!" he exclaimed, beaming "I shall find out who she is and if possible get her to sit for me. She is a perfect type—a glorious beauty."
